Israel, Syria Sign Historic Treaty

GENEVA (UPI) — Israel and Syria signed a formal agreement today to separate their warring armies on the Golan Heights front. A Syrian spokesman in Damascus announced that a cease-fire went into effect at 7:30 a.m. EDT, 45 minutes after the Geneva ceremony.

Signing of the agreement worked out in 32 days of diplomatic endeavor by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was delayed nearly half an hour when Syria balked at signing in the presence of newsmen. The ceremony took place at 11:45 a.m. (6:45 a.m. EDT) after the newsmen were ejected.

Diplomats throughout the world hailed the signing as the first step toward permanent peace in the Middle East. But difficult and dangerous negotiations lay ahead and Syria, as one of the most radical of Arab nations and heavily backed by the Soviet Union, was expected to take a hard line throughout.

Both Israel and Syria reported extremely heavy fighting on the Golan Heights at the time of the actual ceremony and Israel took advantage of the pre-truce period to carry out widespread bombing raids against Arab guerrilla bases in Lebanon. It was the 82nd consecutive day of fighting in the Heights.

A Syrian spokesman in Damascus announced the end of the fighting in these words:

"Fighting on the Syrian front stopped at 2:30 p.m. (7:30 a.m. EDT). With this, Syria has abided by the Geneva agreement."

He said a formal military communique would be announced later.

Israel said its troops stopped firing at 7:15 a.m. (EDT) but that Syria kept up the firing for another 15 minutes.

UPI Correspondent Thomas Cheatham, with Israeli forces in the Golan Heights, said what might be the last of the Middle East wars went out with a bang that the Syrians extended well past the cease-fire zero hour.

The Israeli order "hold your fire" crackled out over the Israeli communications network promptly at noon (6 a.m. EDT) and one of the soldiers said, "I hope it can last." For 15 minutes the Israelis held their fire while the Syrians bombarded the southern sector of the Israeli bulge with a thunderous barrage that left the battlefield bathed in smoke.

Then came the cease-fire.

While peace treaty is signed, fighting continues on Golan Heights. Story, page 20.

The historic disengagement pact, worked out by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in a month of gruelling talks, imposed an immediate cease-fire in the Golan region. Maj. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo of the United Nations peace-keeping force opened the historic ceremony in the ornate Council Chamber of Geneva's Palais des Nations at 11:15 a.m. with a two minute speech.

He praised Kissinger for an "exceptional feat of diplomacy" and then called on generals from the two nations to sign the eight-point pact. Israeli Maj. Gen. Herzl Shafir immediately opened the blue folder and signed the document.

Then suddenly Syrian Gen. Adnanwajih Tayara refused to sign the agreement with newsmen packed in the public galleries above recording the momentous event.

Siilavuo adjourned the ceremony and ordered the press cleared from the building.

The pact was finally signed at 11:45 a.m.

The first delegations began leaving the Palais des Nations, the U.N. building, at noon. Security officials blocked the entire area around the council chamber.

It was only 28 minutes after the press was cleared from the floor and public gallery that a U.N. spokesman, Gerard Gregoire, emerged and shouted down to newsmen in the main lobby below: "Syria signed at 11:45."

Siilasvuo in his speech paid tribute to Kissinger and cautioned that the agreement "is not a peace treaty (but) gives encouragement for a firm and lasting settlement."

"It is a great and courageous step towards an era of trust, justice and peace in the Middle East," he said.

American officials said that today's agreement may allow the full scale Middle East peace conference to reconvene as early as July. The conference was created to work out a formula for a permanent peace in the Middle East.

The U.N. announced half an hour after the signing that the Israeli-Syrian military working group would hold its first meeting Saturday afternoon.

The disengagement agreement instructed that the two generals and their aides should meet for five days after signing to delineate precisely the disengagement map, including the U.N.-manned buffer zone — and work out the technicalities of actually withdrawing troops and weapons.

The disengagement agreement represented the first formal accord between Israel and Syria since a 1949 armistice ended the Jewish state's war of independence.

Before the pact was signed, the Tel Aviv military command reported an upsurge of fighting on the Golan Heights and said Israeli warplanes attacked Arab guerrilla bases once again in southern Lebanon.

Military communiques in Damascus reported heavy tank and artillery clashes raging on the Golan Heights in the 81st consecutive day of a bloody war of attrition.

President to Moscow After Mideast Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's summit talks with Soviet leaders will open June 27, the White House announced today.

The date is several days later than expected — an adjustment caused by Nixon's plans to tour the Middle East during mid-June.

The Moscow talks, expected to last about a week, will be the third in a series of summit meetings between Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev. The first summit was held at the Kremlin in 1972 and was followed by the second set of talks when Brezhnev visted the United States last year.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren read the one-paragraph joint announcement of the summit date as White House officials continued to turn aside questions about the timing of Nixon's Middle East trip.

Meanwhile, tired but triumphant Henry Kissinger returned home today to receive the congratulations of President Nixon, Vice President Gerald R. Ford and congressional leaders on the success of his extraordinary 34-day Middle East Peace mission.

"Congratulations—that may be one of the great things of the century," a beaming Kissinger was told by House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., as the secretary opened a detailed briefing for 22 congressional leaders.

A few hours earlier, Syrian and Israeli generals signed in Geneva a Kissinger-negotiated agreement to separate their warring armies on the Golan Heights.

After a private breakfast with Nixon in the White House family quarters, Kissinger was escorted by the President to the Cabinet Room, where he received a standing ovation from Ford and the congressional leaders.

Behind Kissinger's chair was a stand holding what appeared to be three large aerial photographs presumably to illustrate the disengagement formula. Reporters saw only the opening minutes of the session.

Nixon and Kissinger also briefed the congressional leaders on plans for the President's trips in June to the Middle East and the Soviet Union.

The President's upcoming trip to the Middle East, a region scarred by sporadic fighting for more than a quarter century, was among the topics being discussed on Kissinger's first day back in the United States, sources indicated.

Sources said Thursday that Nixon has tentatively decided to begin his Middle East trip the week beginning June 9. They said Nixon probably would spend from seven to 10 days visiting Israel, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, probably Jordan and perhaps Syria.

On leaving Jerusalem Thursday, Kissinger told newsmen the accord may become "a turning point in the history of the Middle East."

The Israeli parliament voted 76 to 36 in favor of the agreement after a hot debate over whether it undermined Israel's security. Golda Meir, in probably her final appearance before parliament as prime minister, said the pact would prevent another war.

In Damascus, the 125-member regional command of the ruling Arab Socialist Baath party endorsed the agreement and called it "an important step toward achieving the goals of the current stage of the struggle of the Syrian masses. . . ."

Before flying to Washington, Kissinger stopped in Cairo where Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said he had performed "a miracle" in bringing about the agreement.

On the way home, senior American officials said three times during the mission Kissinger was on the verge of going home, even though the Syrians and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan were convinced the Golan Heights confrontation could explode into a full-blown war.

All three crises occurred in Damascus, the official said, but were followed by breakthroughs that led finally to the accord.

He outlined them this way:

—The first breakthrough, on May 18, produced the outline of a disengagement line in which Israel gives up the Syrian territory won in last October's war and six or seven villages won in the 1967 war.

—The second, May 23, settled the dispute over the size of the United Nations Disengagement Observer Force, which will number 1,250 and patrol the 40-mile-long frontier separating the armies.

—The last, on Monday, remains shrouded in secrecy, but Israeli sources said it focused on a compromise to restrain Arab terrorists after the settlement was reached.

Both Sides Waiting for Court Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The doctrine of executive privilege, on which President Nixon's incumbency may depend, is now embattled in the Supreme Court, two U.S. District courts and the House Judiciary Committee. But Nixon says the principle "remains alive and well."

Immediate concerns raised Thursday by Nixon's refusal to provide investigators with any more White House or 1972 campaign records are: The prosecution of seven men for the Watergate cover-up, the prosecution of six for the Ellsberg break-in, a grand jury probe into possible campaign finance violations, and Nixon's impeachment itself.

In the case of the seven men accused of participating in the cover-up, Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski has subpoenaed 64 presidential tape recordings which Nixon has refused to yield. The case is in the hands of an appellate court, but Jaworski wants the Supreme Court to step in and take immediate jurisdiction.

Nixon Thursday argued against skipping a step in the judicial process. The Supreme Court may decide late today whether to consider the case before its term ends in June, but may not announce its decision until next week.

The brief said Jaworski had failed to show that either the administration of justice or the rights of the accused would be harmed by allowing judicial review to "run its orderly course."

Related stories on page 5.

Nixon's brief to the high court also said last week's appeals court decision that the Senate Watergate Committee had no authority to subpoena tapes showed with respect to executive privilege that "the doctrine remains alive and well."

At a news conference Thursday, Nixon's chief lawyer James D. St. Clair would not say whether he would advise Nixon to comply with a Supreme Court decision on giving up any more tapes.

In another court case, Nixon cited executive privilege in endorsing former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans' refusal to provide a grand jury with subpoenaed evidence relating to alleged bribery and conspiracy in Nixon's campaign financing, headed by Stans.

In the Ellsberg case before Federal Judge Gerhard Gesell, Nixon said Thursday he may deny "national security" evidence subpoenaed by two of the six defendants even if it means the charges have to be dropped.

Meanwhile, the staff of the Senate Watergate committee has concluded that contributions to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign by dairy cooperatives were apparently directly linked to Nixon's decision to raise milk prices in 1971.

A draft report by the committee's staff, written principally by Democratic staff members, also said there appeared to be serious deficiencies in President Nixon's defense of the price increase.

The 360-page draft report, the product of months of behind-the-scenes investigation by the Watergate committee, was circulated today to members of the committee.

A Temporary Reprieve For Area Rail Lines

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

In a somewhat unusual move, the Interstate Commerce Commission (IC) has criticized a U. S. Department of Transportation report calling for the abandonment of thousands of miles of rail lines in the northeast, including the Catskill Mountain and Wallkill Valley branch lines and the Harlem Division of the Penn Central Railroad in Ulster, Dutchess and surrounding counties.

The ICC rpeort to the U.S. Railway Association, which came following numerous public hearings on proposed abandonment in the northeast and midwest, calls on the Association to reject the DOTs method of determining branch line viability and suggests that much more study should be undertaken.

Meanwhile, in another development, State Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler said Penn Central will be barred from abandoning the Catskill Mountain Branch because shippers using the line have agreed to pay a surcharge for continued service.

Schuler said shippers are willing to pay a $2 per ton surcharge, and that with the subsidy the line will show a profit. According to Schuler, the Rail Reorganization Act of 1973 "prohibits discontinuance of a line when such an offer is available."

Special

Area opponents of the proposed abandonment of the Catskill Mountain, Wallkill Valley and Harlem Division lines say the ICC report is a big boost for their position.

Characterizing his reaction to the ICC evaluation as "very favorable," Harris Gordon, chairman of the board of the Catskill Mountain Transportation Corporation which is seeking to save the branch from Kingston to Delaware County, told the Freeman. "The ICC has recognized our position and has chastised the DOT for its disregard of considerations other than those presented by the railroad."

"You have to think of this situation other than from just the financial viewpoint of the railroad," he said.

"I'm very pleased with the ICC report," said Mrs. Gerald Carson, who represents the Harlem Valley Transportation Association. "I was fearful that ICC officials would water down the testimony at the public hearings, but they included in the report every point we made."

"I felt it was a very fair job," she said.

Aaron Modansky, president of the Wallkill Valley Rail Users Association termed the ICC report as "a shocking indictment" of the DOT.

But despite their pleasure with the lengthy ICC evaluation, Gordon, Modansky and Mrs. Carson all vowed not to ease up in their fights to have the three area lines saved from possible abandonment.

Modansky suggested that constant pressure must be continued in order to waylay any possible efforts by Penn Central to speed up abandoment.

The earliest possible date for abandonment of any of the three lines should be almost exactly one year away under the Rail Reorganization Act of 1973, which prompted the DOT report, the public hearings and the ICC evaluation.

However, according to Monansky, there are ways Penn Central could bring about early abandonment if opposition forces are not continually watchful.

The ICC cities great public interest in proposed abandonment of rail lines throughout the northeast in its evaluation, and notes that there is strong opposition to abandonment from the public.

The DOT report was soundly criticized by many area rail users during March public hearings in Albany. Many persons charged that abandonment of the three area lines would be devastating to business.

Whatever happens during the succeeding months, pressure by opponents to abandonment will apparently not diminish.

The next major step under the 1973 Rail Act will be the preparation of a preliminary reorganization plan by the U.S. Railway Association. More public hearings — sure to be lively — are expected following finalization of the preliminary plan.

Expect Okay On UR Request By Schulenbergs

KINGSTON — The Common Council is expected to approve a request by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency to sell an eighth of an acre of land off Delaware Avenue to Margaret and the late Charles Schulenberg when the aldermen meet Tuesday night.

The council held a public hearing Thursday night at city hall where no opposition was expressed. Attorney Marshal Lipton represented the Schulenberg family, owner of Schultz Taxi on Delaware Avenue. Mr. Schulenberg died Tuesday but Mrs. Schulenberg intends to carry out plans to acquire the pie-shaped piece of land at the junction of Delware and Hasbrouck Avenues.

The land will be landscaped and some of it used for parking. The negotiated selling price from the agency was $1,500.

Rule Mistrial In Turner Case; 'Rematch' Aug. 5

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The legal chess game between Orlando supersalesman Glenn W. Turner and the federal government ended in a mistrial Thursday, but a rematch will take place Aug. 5.

The 12 jurors who heard evidence for the past eight months in the mail fraud case against Rurner and his seven associates reported they were hopelessly deadlocked. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat then declared a mistrial and scheduled a new trial.

During the six days of deliberations which began last Thursday, the jurors passed several hand-written notes to Judge Tjoflat indicating they were far apart on the question of guilt or innocence.

Train Derails In Spring Valley

SPRING VALLEY, N.Y. (AP)—Morning rush hour service was concelled today on the Pascack Valley line of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

A railway spokesman said an empty passenger train leaving the yards here derailed, blocking all following trains on the run from Spring Valley to Hoboken, N.J.

Commuters had to use trains from Suffern or other means of transportation. No one was injured in the derailment, the spokesman said.

When the tracks might be cleared was not immediately known.

Bell Dinner

An article in Wednesday's Freeman identifying James Thompson as chairman of Citizens for Bell (Assemblyman H. Clark Bell's campaign committee) and William Merrill and Robert O'Reilly as dinner chairmen of the May 28 dinner for Bell at the Nevele Hotel was incorrect. Thompson was co-chairman of the dinner with Richard Mathews. Merrill, father of the 1973 GOP mayoral candidate, William B. Merrill, is chairman of Citizens for Bell while O'Reilly is treasurer for that committee.

'Official' Report Raps County Jail

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

"Administratives procedures . . . were found to be lacking in many aspects essential to the satisfactory operation of a county jail," concludes a report released this week by the State Commission of Correction on a March inspection of the Ulster County Jail.

At least one violation of Correction Law — a violation that may have remained uncorrected since last September — and one violation of Commission "Minimum Standards" are noted in the report on the "regualr inspection" of the jail. Numerous other questionable practices are also cited in the report, which differes considerably from a "confidential" special report on a Feb. 25 escape, a series of fires and a drug smuggling incident in early March which was revealed previously in the Freeman.

"It is felt that the jail administrators are equipped with a facility adequate to provide modern up-to-date correction treatment programs. However, it should be noted that such programs are practicallly nonexistent . . ." states this week's report.

According to the report, at the time of the inspection "it was noted that not all inmates were classified in accordance with Correction Law." Correction Law requires that adults and minors, and sentenced and pre-trial prisoners be housed in separate sections of the jail. The same violation was noted in a report on a Sept. 25, 1973 inspection of the jail.

In noting the violation of "Minimum Standards," the report states "There was no record being kept of good behavior allowance earned by the inmates . . ."

The report cites inequity of treatment of Rockland County prisoners currently housed in the jail as compared with Ulster County prisoners.

At the time of the inspection "no one was in possession of a key which could activate the emergency alarm" at the jail, according to the report, and the issuance of keys to all jail personnel was recommended.

The report also recommends "That the sheriff insure that each newly appointed staff person be properly instructed with respect to the requirements of his or her position."

Other recommendations include the posting of a list of prisoner rules and regulations — a recommendation included in the "confidential" report—, that the inmate population count be certified at each change of shift, that the policy of accepting pre-arraigned prisoners be discontinued, and that psychiatric type razors be used — a recommendation also included in the special rpeort.

Also noted in the report released this week is the fact that "The sheriff is experiencing great difficulties in hiring and retaining jail staff personnel," that jail medicines are kept in "an insecure closet," and that "for reasons unexplained" a laundry in the new jail is not being used.

The report makes only passing mention of a series of fires in the jail, and does not even acknowledge the February escape or a drug smuggling incident in March. The "confidential" special report on "unusual incidents" at the jail — apparently intended only for the eyes of the Commission — deals almost exclusively with those incidents.

That report, revealed in the Freeman May 20, placed much of the blame for the "unusual incidents" on "lack of proper supervision."

Inspections which resulted in the "confidential" and publicly released Commission reports were made by the same inspectors on the same dates.

Youth Beaten by Inmates; Escape Attempts Alleged

KINGSTON

A 16-year-old youth confined in the Ulster County Jail to await sentencing on a burglary charge was hospitalized for two days after reportedly suffering a beating last week at the hands of another inmate or inmates, the Freeman has learned.

In another recent development at the jail, two inmates, including one who previously escaped from he Ulster County Jail Feb. 25 and was later recaptured, reportedly attempted to escape from a detention cell in the jail last week.

Efforts to obtain full information about the two alleged incidents have proven fruitless.

It has been learned that on Friday, May 24, Kenneth Lunan, whose address is listed by the Sheriff's Department as Glasco, was admitted to the Benedictine Hospital sufering from head injuries, and multiple bruises of the face, skull and chest. The youth remained hospitalized until Sunday, May 26, when he was released and returned to the jail.

According to one report, the youth was removed from jail in an unconscious state. He was taken to the hospial by Fatum's Ambularce. A spokesman for the ambulance service declined to say anything about the condition of the patient when he was picked up at the jail.

Details about the alleged escape attempt are minimal, but the fact that both incidents did occur has been confirmed — in a sense — by Sheriff William B. Martin.

After repeated attempts to contact the Sheriff by telephone Thursday morning, the Freeman went to the jail where Martin was approached in a corridor outside his office and questioned briefly.

Sheriff Martin said reports on both incidents "have been sent to Albany." He gave no details on the alleged beating. When asked if inmates Scott Russo and Allen Yerkes had attempted to escape on May 22 he said only, "They tried to get out a detention cell," adding, "It happens all the time."

The Sheriff then declined to comment further, saying, "I'm too busy now I've got a serious situation I've got to take care of." He then walked into his office before the Freeman could ask what the "serious situation" was, and closed the door behind him.

The Freeman contacted the State Commission of Correction in Albany, where a spokesman confirmed that information on the incidents has been received. However, the Commission spokesman would not comment on what is known about the incidents, saying "I'd rather not say anything until we know what we are going to say."

Lunan was in jail awaiting sentencing on a third degree burglary charge. He had been arrested May 18 by State Police in connection with a theft the night before in the Town of Ulster. At his arraignment before Town of Ulster Justice Sherwood E. Davis, the youth pleaded guilty to the charge and was confined in Ulster County Jail to await sentencing. He is scheduled to reappear in court June 4.

Opposition Mounting Against Lloyd A-Plant

HIGHLAND

The proposal to construct a nuclear-fueled power plant in the Town of Lloyd continues to provoke anti-atomic sentiments and statements.

Lloyd residents will vote Saturday in a townwide advisory referendum. The recently-organized Concerned Citizens of Highland, meanwhile, continues its 11th hour campaign opposing the issue.

In a statement released today, the group maintained, "a power plant that isn't safe enough to be built in New York City isn't safe enough to be built in Highland."

CCOH, which claims to represent 940 Highland residents who are opposed to a nuclear neighbor, was organized May 16, shortly after the Lloyd Town Board voted to hold a referendum on the atomic power issue. The Atomic and Space Development Authority (ASDA) is studying a 2,300 acre site in the Towns of Lloyd and Esopus to determine its suitability for a power plant.

In today's statement, CCOH cited "grave threats to the health, safety and survival of the community" should a nuclear facility locate in Lloyd. The group specified:

● "The very real possibility of a catastrophic nuclear accident, which could be caused by reactor malfunction, terrorist sabotage, an airliner crash, or an enemy attack. Insurance companies recognize the enormous risks of a nuclear accident by refusing to insure any howeowner against damage resulting from such an accident.

● "Low level radiation effects on communities surrounding nuclear plants has resulted in a dramatic rise in cancer deaths of all kinds (especially leukemia), heart disease and infant mortality. It is the overwhelming consensus of radiologists, biologists and geneticists that any amount of radiaton entails some genetic risks, resulting in increased birth defects.

● "Two gigantic cooling towers will be required for each power plant built in our community, and most sites eventually contain three or four plants. These 400 foot high cooling towers, which will dominate the landscape from all directions, will spew 80,000 tons of water vapor into our air every day. Much of this water will be visible as a heavy, thick vapor cloud many miles long. The climate around plants with cooling towers has been significantly altered, with the added moisture and decreased sunlight causing fog, frozen roadways and crop damage."

CCOH contends that there are "safer, cheaper and non-polluting sources of energy available to us in unlimited supply" and adds that "nuclear fission reactors are not a viable solution to our energy needs."

Berardi Responds To Law Suit Report

KINGSTON

James J. Berardi, a Kingston contractor, told The Freeman today that he discontinued a $1.3 million law suit against Local 445 of the Teamsters and Local 82 of the Operating Engineers on his own volition and that he was under no court order to do so.

Berardi said he asked that the case be discontinued in Federal Court on May 22. District Judge Milton Pollack granted Berardi's request, "at no cost to either side, "according to Berardi but with prejudice to the facts, which means the case cannot be brought into court again on the set of facts as originally presented.

The dispute between Berardi and the unions goes back to last summer and occured on a job Berardi was doing for the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency in the Uptown Project.

The original dispute was over whether Berardi would hire a Teamster truckdriver and a shop stewart. Berardi refused; the union contended it was required by their contract with Berardi.

The construction job on Washington and Hurley Avenues was shut down for one day, according to Berardi, who says other trades crossed Teamster picket lines.

The Teamsters appealed to the National Labor Relations Board, which while the appeal was pending, ordered all pickets removed. On Sept. 24, 1973 the Teamster appeal was denied by NLRB.

Theodore Daley, in a statement released earlier this week, expressed pleasure with what he termed Judge Pollack's decision which he said "indicates that the action taken by the local union and its business representative Michael Marco was proper and lawful from the beginning and the decision bears this out."

Berardi and his attorney, Vincent G. Bradley, take exception to Daley's reference of "proper and lawful from the beginning" pointing to the decisions of the NLRB against the Teamsters.

Shandaken Zoning Vote Set June 12

ALLABEN

More than 100 persons turned out Thursday night for a public hearing conducted by the Shandaken Town Board to consider the proposed interim zoning plan for the town.

Supervisor Ray Dunn said that the proposed zoning plan and map, recommended by the Shandaken Planning Board after a series of four public hearings, would be acted on at the June 12 meeting of the town board.

Dunn praised the people in attendance for an orderly meeting, and said he felt it had been productive.

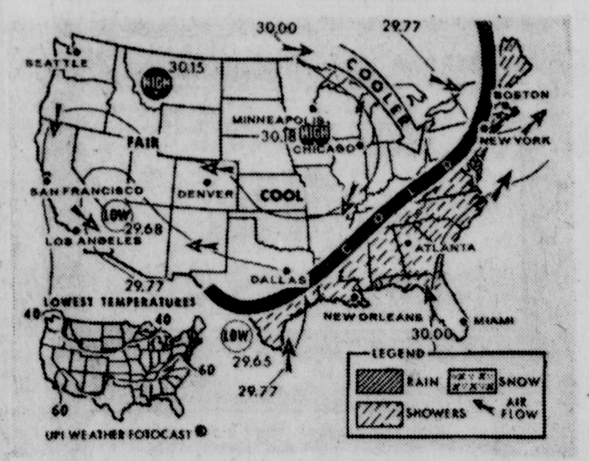

The main point of discussion centered around land along Route 28 in Mt. Pleasant owned by the Risely family just east of Scandanavian Village. The land was changed by the Planning Board from residential to commercial zoning over the protests of conservationists in the town, Dunn said.

The zoning plan and map were prepared by the town's planning consultants, Clark Associates of Rye, and were forwarded to the town board by Chairman Frederick Muehleck and members of the planning board. Muehleck said the planning board's objective was to provide some control over development in the town without being overly restrictive.

Several developers have announced plans for condominiums, shopping centers, and other developments within the town, a move that has aroused determined opposititon from conservation groups, the Shandaken Environmental Conservation Commission, the Phoenicia Rod and Gun Club, and Ulster County Legislator Clifford Snyder, among others.

Dunn said that the board would vote on the entire zoning plan and map without changes. "If it's adopted, it's always possible to change or amend it," he noted.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened lower in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 3.44 at 800.14 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances 329 to 238, among 860 issues across the tape.

Many investors were watching closely for the weekly prime rate announcement of First National City Bank of New York. Despite a Federal Reserve Board report late Thursday of higher business loan demand in the week ended Wednesday, the Citibank rate on loans to top-rated corporate borrowers held unchanged for the second week in a row. The rate generally is at 11½ per cent, with one major lender at a record 11¾.

Mrs. Cook Withdraws From 27th District Race

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Assemblywoman Constance E. Cook, R-Ithaca, has pulled out of the GOP primary race for the 27th Congressional District seat.

"Apparently, my candidacy was seen as a threat to the Republican establishment in the eastern part of the district," she said in Binghamton Thursday night.

She was referring to a coalition of three county chairmen, Cyrus Schoonmaker of Delaware County, Harry Seletsky of Sullivan County and Albert J. Spada of Ulster County, to endorse one of five candidates in the primary.

Mrs. Cook contended that this action violated the spirit of what she called "the open-primary system."

"At the time I announced may candidacy, I had every reason to believe that there would be an open primary," she said. "Very quickly, the open primary idea was dropped.

"I have decided to withdraw from the congressional race," she said. "It simply isn't worth the capital from a personal point of view. There is no doubt in my mind but that I could win, running against the organizations in the eastern counties. In fact, I suspect in the end it would help my campaign. It would mean, however, a great deal more work. I have decided it is not worth the personal and family sacrifices such a campaign would demand."

The district includes all of Broome and Tioga counties and parts of Tompkins and Chemung counties.

The Broome party leadership is partial to Broome County executive Edward L. Crawford, who is being opposed by Binghamton Mayor Alfred J. Libous, Franklin B. Resseguie, a Binghamton lawyer, and Tioga County treasurer Carl Saddlemire.

Mrs. Cook, who will not seek re-election to the Assembly either, said she will reopen her law office in Ithaca. Her sixth term ends in December. Mrs. Cook, architect of New York's original legalized abortion law, is chairman of the Assembly Education Committee.

Prosecution Rests Case

KINGSTON — State Police Investigator William McLean, recalled to the witness stand in the murder trial of George Carter, 21, of Newburgh Thursday, testified that Carter and his companion, each other, in separate confessions to police of the throat slashing death of Newburgh cab driver Edwin Pascoe Aug. 28.

Both Blackman and Carter were expected to take the stand today for the defense. The prosecution rested its case Thursday afternoon.

Carter and Blackman are alleged to have commandeered Pascoe's cab in Newburgh and to have forced him from his taxi in Marlboro where Pascoe was tied to a tree and slashed in the throat. Carter later surrendered to police and allegedly confessed to robbing Pascoe of a small but as yet undetermined amount of money (under $100).

Blackman is presently serving a three-year sentence at Warwick Training School. Ulster County Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn dismissed a petition charging Blackman with robbery and murder.

Assistant District Attorney Michael Kavanagh also called four other witnesses to testify Thursday including Vincent Vasile who lives near where the cab was found in Marlboro. He said he saw two young male Blacks walking down the road toward Route 9W on the day of the murder.

Betty Wilclow, a passing motorist testified that at 1 p.m. she did not see the cab on Highland Road but upon returning at 1:30 p.m. she saw it.

BCI Investigator John Solters testified as to the mileage involved and BCI Investigator Carl Van Wagenen testified as to the route allegedly traveled the day of the murder.

County Judge Raymond J. Mino is presiding. Barry Pippman is counsel for Carter.

Schovel Pulls Out; Supports Hinchey

SAUGERTIES — Saugerties Supervisor A. Michael Schovel withdrew his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Assembly Thursday night just prior to the election of 48 Saugerties delegates to the Ulster County Democratic Committee convention to be held June 6 at Ulster County Community College.

Schovel made his announcement at a caucus of town Democrats and at the same time threw his support to Democratic State Committeeman Maurice Hinchey, an announced candidate for the Assembly in the 101st District.

He also indicated that he would seek the chairmanship of the Saugerties Democratic Committee when an election is held Monday at 8 p. m. at the Flamingo Restaurant. That post is also being sought by a prominent Saugerties woman Democrat, Jane Chodaba.

Mrs. Chodaba hosted a fund raising cocktail party for Hinchey at the Flamingo on May 23, the day before Schovel declared his candidacy for the Assembly.

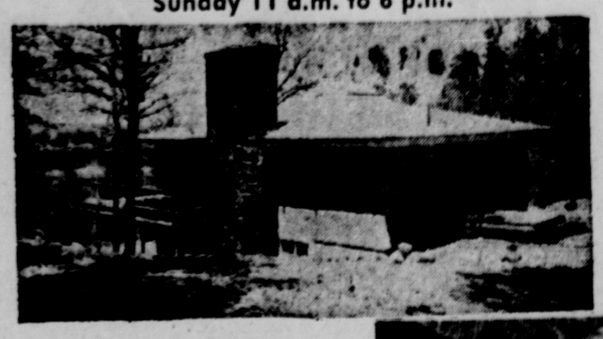

Paul Miller, who is presently acting as pro tem chairman said he is not interested in the chairmanship.

Schovel reportedly withdrew from the Assembly race because he felt he made a mistake in leaving the Democratic Party in 1973 when he made a successful independent run for supervisor.

Miller said Schovel told him he now realizes his interests lie with the Democratic Party and he therefore would like to work with the party to help Hinchey win the election.

'No Major Scandal'... Jaworski on ITT Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the wake of three resignations that decimated his ITT task force, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski admitted that a year-long investigation failed to turn up evidence of a major scandal in the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. case.

Jaworski wrote a letter Thursday to Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Tex., giving a status report on the ITT probe following the resignations of the last of three assistant special prosecutors serving on the task force.

Jaworski said that although the case is not closed, "it is fair to say that there is no present expectation of a disclosure of such offenses."

Sources familiar with the case said they would not rule out the possibility that the task force, to be reorganized under assistant special prosecutor Richard Davis, would continue the probe in the same area. "But right now, the case just isn't there," they said.

The ITT case involved allegations that the government agreed to out-of-court settlement of three antitrust suits against the giant conglomerate in exchange for a pledge of financial support if the 1972 Republican convention was held in San Diego, Calif.

The allegations, based primarily on the celebrated "Dita Beard memo" published by columnist Jack Anderson, were persistently denied under oath by White House, Justice Department and ITT officials. They led, however, to intensive public hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee, and apparent conflicts in that testimony were the original basis for the special prosecutor's office taking on the ITT investigation.

As a result, former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge connected with his failure to testify completely before the committee. He awaits sentencing.

Jaworski's decision to permit Kleindienst to plead to a misdemeanor rather than prosecute him on felony charges for giving false testimony was bitterly opposed by the ITT task force lawyers. That dispute is understood to have triggered their resignations.

Davis, who has been working closely with the task force for several weeks, is scheduled to prosecute a perjury case against California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke. Reinecke, whose indictment was based on his Senate testimony in the ITT hearings, pleaded innocent and is carrying on his Republican campaign for governor while awaiting trial.

Agnew's Back Taxes Reportedly Paid

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has paid all the back federal income taxes sought by the Internal Revenue Service, the Baltimore Sun reported Thursday.

Quoting sources familiar with Agnew's case, the newspaper said in its Friday editions that Agnew has complied fully with IRS demands, including those for penalties and interest.

The newspaper said it could not be determined immediately how much Agnew paid. He resigned last Oct. 10, just before pleading no contest to an income tax evasion charge.

Since then, the IRS, citing a policy of confidentiality, has refused to discuss the case.

At the time of Agnew's federal court appearance, the Justice Department said Agnew had made $55,599 in 1967 and should have paid $19,967.47. Government prosecutors said Agnew's tax return had shown $26,099 in income and $6,416 in taxes owed.

Grumman Needs $125 Million To Continue Building F14

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Grumman Aerospace Corp. has told the Navy it can't continue building the controversial F14 "tomcat" fighter unless the Pentagon comes up with $125 million in advance cash payments, Senate sources say.

Grumman's demand for the unusual cash-in-advance procedure cannot be met without an okay from Congress, but the Navy has concealed the demand from Capitol Hill since January, the sources said.

The Navy action was discovered within the past week by a Senate Armed Services Committee aide. A memo detailing his findings was made public Thursday by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

Committee sources said the group was "acutely embarrased" by the Navy action because its $21.8 billion 1975 arms budget comes to the Senate floor today — and the bill contains $722.5 million more for F14s.

The committee is said to fear the new disruption of the trouble-plagued F14 program could lead the Senate to junk it altogether. The program has already encountered a cost overrun of more than $1 billion, and the plane does not perform anywhere near its original specifications.

The Navy's inability to pay Grumman in advance without congressional approval stems from a compromise worked out last year with Congress after the company refused to build more of the planes.

Grumman said then it would go bankrupt if the Navy insisted on buying more planes at the original contract price of $12.6 million a copy.

In a complex deal, Grumman agreed to take a $200 million loss on the first 150 planes, and the Navy got approval from Congress to raise the price on all subsequent models.

In a move to win congressional assent, the Navy and Grumman signed a contract for 48 planes at a price of $737 million last September. However, the contract was made contingent on the appropriation of funds by Congress.

When the 1974 appropriations bill reached the floor, Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., tacked on an "anti-bailout amendment" that prohibited the Navy from advancing more than $25 million without a congressional okay.

Its purpose was to make Grumman borrow from the banks to finance its work, rather than from the government. But Grumman's bankers withdrew from the deal because of the F14's political problems, the sources said.

IRA Leader Is Arrested By British

BELFAST (UPI) — British troops seized a top leader of the outlawed Irish Republican Army today during a massive search to prevent a violent IRA backlash over the collapse of the province's moderate coalition government.

Life in Northern Ireland headed back to normal following a shattering, 15-day strike by Protestant militants, but Britain ran into a stumbling block in attempts to form a new coalition government to run the province.

An army spokesman said the IRA leader was picked up in a bar this morning during a search by hundreds of troops in Belfast's Roman Catholic Lower Falls Road district.

The spokesman refused to identify the underground leader, but said he was a senior member of the IRA's extremist Provisional Belfast brigade and "one of the top six men on our wanted list."

Army sources reported clashes when troops tried to take the IRA leader from the bar. Two men were hospitalized after being shot by soldiers firing rubber bullets.

The Protestant militants called off their devastating walkout Wednesday, a day after the fall of a six-month-old "Executive" made up of moderate Catholics and Protestants. Hours later, Britain reimposed direct rule on Ulster.

City officials reported plentiful supplies of gasoline, electricity and public transportation in Belfast today with many shops and businesses open for the first time in more than two weeks.

Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees was making little headway, however, in attempts to form a new, power-sharing provincial government.

Rees met Thursday with leaders of all Northern Ireland political parties, but failed to win the backing of Protestant leaders who called the strike.

We Can All Save

President Franklin D. Roosevelt used to talk about things being "iffy." It is a made-up word which applies to electric company suggestions about making it through summer without brownouts and power cutbacks.

It seems that this depends on a number of factors, including weather conditions and the efficiency of generating equipment. A long stretch of humid, hot days would greatly increase demand. And though there is more generating capacity in some areas than there was a year ago, equipment breakdowns might make a crucial difference.

One factor potentially more significant than either of the above is the degree to which both industrial and individual power customers cooperate in energy conservation. If the idea of holding down on energy use were to catch on in a big way, the cumulative effect could be enormous.

This is one area in which householders can do much to determine how well power supplies hold up under summer demand. It is they who can turn up their thermostats, bearing in mind that for every degree below 78 the energy requirements for cooling go up betwen 5 and 10 per cent. It is home consumers who can make the decision to operate electrical appliances most efficiently—to use the dishwasher once a day when it is fully loaded, for example, to run the washing machine in early morning or at night to offset heat thus generated, to dry clothes on the line rather than in an electric dryer, and so on.

There is a similarity between consumption of gasoline and of electricity. In each case, conservation measures by millions of individuals can add up to a very significant saving.

Changing Eating Habits

Circumstances have begun to force Americans into changing their energy use habits. Circumstances also may in time force them to change their eating habits. The same goes for people in other industrially developed countries.

The circumstances referred to are the relationship between world food supply and world population growth. The latter is outpacing the former, with more people competing for proportionately less food.

It is not suggested—not for the immediate future, at any rate—that because of this Americans will have to get along on less food per capita. This may come in time, but at present the change foreseen has to do with the kind of food rather than with its quantity.

Most of the world's people, those who live in less developed countries, rely on various kinds of grain as their staple food. In developed countries, most notably the United States, grain is largely converted into meat, milk and eggs. Since it takes several pounds of grain to make one pound of meat, the end result is that we and the people of other developed countries use up far more than our fair share of the world's grain supply.

A United Nations study called "World Population and World Food Supplies: Looking Ahead" makes a proposal to deal with this situation. It suggests that people in the more advanced countries "reduce the demands they place on world food resources" by substituting vegetable-based protein for animal protein.

This would not make for such a tasteless diet as might be supposed. Numerous palatable foods created from vegetable-based protein are being developed or are already on the market. Greater use of such foods would help to make more grain available in the less developed countries. A widespread voluntary move in this direction would in time do much to ease the steadily rising pressures on world food production.

SCIENTISTS SAY pollutants in the atmosphere are cooling off the earth. It's a little hard to believe when mowing the lawn under a blazing sun.

AN EXPERT concludes the U.S. has consistently underestimated Soviet strategic weapons deployment. Except, of course, at Pentagon-budget time.

HAIG SAYS he's the first active duty general "who had to retire from military service to enter combat." Could this be the first tentative waving of a flag of truce?

NIXON SAYS the inflation "storms are abating;" Simon says conquering inflation will take years. There's nothing like a coordinated policy approach.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

'Toilet Incident' Confession

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Dairy lobbyist Jake Jacobsen has described as sordid a scene, if his secret confession is true, as ever has occurred in the Treasury Department's highest office.

Among Watergate investigators privy to Jacobsen's account, the episode has become known as the "toilet incident."

It happened when John Connally was secretary of the treasury. The bold, booming Texan — "Big John" his friends called him — was then the rage in Washington. Almost everyone agreed he was presidential timber.

He let everyone around him know he was serving at a sacrifice. His government salary didn't provide him with enough pocket money, he complained, to live in the high style to which he had become accustomed. He would have to start selling off his investments, he bemoaned, if he stayed around Washington for long.

His lament did not go unheeded. His close friend Jake Jacobsen picked up $10,000 from the Associated Milk producers, Inc., stashed half of it in a safe deposit box and brought the remaining $5,000 to the Treasury Department.

As Jacobsen has described the incident to Watergate investigators, he handed over the cash in five crisp, $1,000 packets to Connally. The smiling secretary carefully removed the wrappers, strode into his private bathroom and flushed the telltale wrappers down the toilet, Jacobsen has alleged.

When we reached Connally for comment, he listened in uncharacteristic silence to the account of the toilet incident. Then he quietly repeated the denial he has made in the past. He said that he was twice offered the $10,000 milk payment but that he twice rejected it.

The reluctant Jacobsen has told Watergate prosecutors, quite to the contrary, that he delivered the money to Connally in two $5,000 installments.

After the milk scandal came under investigation, Jacobsen has related, a repentant Connally brought back the hot $10,000. The two friends agreed upon a cover story. Jacobsen promised to say the milk money had been rejected by Connally and had been kept in a safe deposit box.

But in his later confession, Jacobsen has now alleged that Connally became nervous that the bills could be traced. So he allegedly arranged to bring Jacobsen a second, substitute bundle in Austin, Tex.

Meanwhile, Jacobsen was called before a grand jury where he loyally repeated the cover story. But the FBI broke down his story, and the grand jury indicted him for perjury. He was also indicted about the same time in an unrelated savings-and-loan case.

Jacobsen has an ailing wife who needs his constant attention. So in a bid for leniency, he offered to cooperate with the prosecutors and gave them the incriminating deails against Connally.

The FBI has now confirmed many of the details from bank records, travel vouchers and witnesses, such as the chauffeur who drove Connally in a limousine from Houston to Austin for the rendezvous with Jacobsen.

The FBI has also established that Connally intervened in behalf of the milk producers both with the White House and with former Attorney General John Mitchell.

THE RAINMAKERS: There were flat denials when we reported on March 18, 1971, that Air Force rainmakers were seeding the clouds over the North Vietnamese spy trails "in an attempt to concentrate more rainfall upon the trails and to wipe them out."

Melvin Laird, who was questioned about this after he became secretary of defense, testified before Congress on April 18, 1972: "We have never engaged in that type of activity over North Vietnam."

This was a bald-faced lie. The Defense Department has now admitted that the Air Force, indeed, conducted top secret rainmaking operations over the supply trails from 1967 to 1972.

In response, a sheepish Laird has corrected his testimony, explaining that he had been misinformed. He is claiming, in other words, that we had better Pentagon sources than he did. Flattering as this may be, it is untrue.

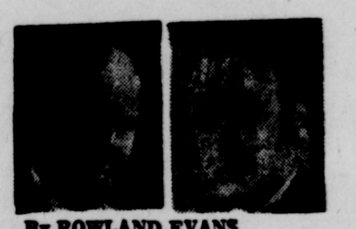

In our story three years ago we gave specific details of the hush-hush rainmaking project including its code name "Intermediary-Compatriot."

We reported that the rainmaking experiments had started in 1967 and that the participants believed they had "increased the precipitation over the jungle roadways during the wet seasons."

Our Pentagon sources say these details, which have now been officially confirmed by the Defense Department, were available to Laird. The public ought to demand an end to official lying, even if it takes a few more perjury prosecutions to do it.

Inside Report

McGovernites Back

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Obscured by incessant Democratic National Committee propaganda claims of the regulars reassuring party command is this hard and ominous fact: the McGovernites firmly control essentially the same areas today that they did in 1972.

In early delegate selection for the first Democratic midterm convention at Kansas City in December, New Politics activists have displayed skills used two years ago to nominate Sen. George McGovern. Virtually unnoticed, they have won control of the Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota delegations and picked up impressive minorities elsewhere. The projection is for Kansas City to be only slightly right of the 1972 Miami Beach madhouse and well to the left of pre-1972 Democratic conventions.

That prospect casts a long dark shadow toward 1976, suggesting that the McGovernite takeover at Miami Beach was no aberration. Rather, just as the Republican party shifted right after Sen. Barry Goldwater's nomination in 1964, the leftward Democratic slide may well be permanent. If so, the 1976 presidential nomination cannot possibly go to a genuine centrist.

That means Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss is falling short in his grand design: to nudge the party back toward the center without alienating the left. In fact, his centrist critics (especially in the AFL-CIO heirarchy) believe Strauss has inadvertently aided New Politics forces by lulling party regulars into complacency.

Strauss and his top lieutenants long have claimed the regulars would solidly control at Kansas City and that the real threat would come from Gov. George Wallace. So far, however, Wallace's delegate search has proved a fiasco, while impressive successes have been scored by McGovernites, as follows:

Wisconsin: practicallly a clean sweep for the New Politics. Even Democratic national committeeman Don Peterson, a national founder of the old dump-LBJ movement, was denied a delegate's seat beacuse he had voted for Strauss as national chairman. As in 1972, Gov. Patrick J. Lucey did not become involved.

Iowa: Helped by New Politics paid professional Alan Baron (a native Iowan), McGovernites won 17 out of 20 seats. The left-of-center Communications Workers of America and United Auto Workers helped dominate precinct caucuses while AFL-CIO forces took a licking.

Minnesota: New Politics delegates associated with Rep. Donald Fraser won up to 18 seats against 10 for party leaders linked with Gov. Wendell Anderson. Not wishing to rile the left while seeking reelection, Anderson kept a low profile in delegate selection.

In conservative Wyoming, McGovernites won 6 of 12 seats. In even more conservative Kansas, they won 6 of 16 seats. Ultra-conservative Mississippi remained under domination of a white liberal-black coalition after the national Wallace organization shied away from a confrontation.

The most striking example of New Politics staying power can be found in Maine. All eight delegates are controlled by national committeeman George Mitchell, unsuccessful McGovernite candidate for national chairman after the 1972 election. Far more revealing was the runaway Maine Democratic convention session May 17: proposing unconditional amnesty for Vietnam draft-dodgers, advocating civil rights for homosexuals, censuring Chairman Strauss.

Even some victories claimed by the regulars are doubtful. In Ohio, McGovernites won only 15 to 18 delegates compared to 25 regulars; but another 20 to 23 liberal delegates are aligned with Gov. John J. Gilligan, viewed by the regulars as an uncertain trumpet. The McGovernites were wiped out in Massachusetts by a coalition of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's and Boston Mayor Kevin White's forces, but the Kennedyites are viewed with deepest suspicion by party centrists.

Last week's primary in Pennsylvania gave the regulars clear-cut domination of the delegation—an important victory. Other indisputable gains by the regulars have come in Tennessee and Texas. The regulars have kept South Carolina, and Wallace retains Alabama.

But this does not add up to the centrist movement both Strauss and his AFL-CIO critics believe is essential. Nearly inevitable new Politics victories in the nation's two most populous states, New York (in September) and California (in December) will insure a left-loaded midterm convention. Even if Strauss uses his considerable skill to keep the lid on at Kansas City, the resiliency of grass roots McGovernism will be manifest.

Portraits of Springtime

Springtime . . .

Warm showers hissing winter off the stage. Little schoolboys running into little schoolgirls on purpose. A tired truck radiator opening a sauna on a highway. New freckles—polka-dotted noses.

An old lady rocking on a porch under a shawl. Granite mountains frowning under ermine stoles. In the middle of a big farm, a solitary bean spreads both hands to haaven. The yellow lace of forsythia. A rain spout gargles its throat noisily and spits out the last sliver of ice.

The brazen breeze with its indecent intimacy around pretty girls. A traffic cop with a tiara of sweat diamonds on his forehead. The irritation of migratory birds arguing over last year's apartments in the trees. Cold cereal with a harbor full of floating ships.

Big pink hair ribbons. A cold beer shedding tears over its fate. The sharp crack of a bat against a ball. A picnic tablecloth, runway for fat bees. Small brooks sparkling, skidding and sliding over smooth stones in a scenic railway ride to the river.

The gummy grin of an infant, as young as spring itself. A timid full moon, blushing orange over the trees. The first fireflies, blinking their taillights for night traffic. Big city clerks lunching on a patch of green.

An old man and a farm gully, counting each other's wrinkles. The light lift of long curtains when the living room windows are open. On the highway, pools of water ahead which are never there. Early corn with mandarin whiskers.

An arm full of books, the handcuffs of the student. Pussy willow on a teacher's desk. The tumultuous sea, scrubbing sandy beaches over and over. Black earth cracked like a freshly baked cake.

Faint stars in the night sky, the peepholes of paradise. The shrieks of girls at a shower when the gifts are opened. Bathing suits, smaller than a baby's diaper, in store windows. Boys, in a church choir, whose voices are changing. Tomboys who have suddenly become fragile, feminine and futile.

Nature's nicest crystals, tulip cups, shivering as they wait to be filled with rain. Daddy's dangerous practice swings with a five iron in the living room. Cold cuts for Sunday supper.

Thunder, growling like an old dog as it races across the sky. Winter clothing, hanged by a merciless posse in the attic. A shiny earthworm, whispering "Up periscope." A thousand reruns on television. Screeches of pain from a rusty lawn mower.

A new coiffure, new shoes and a floppy hat perform a miracle — make a new woman. Drying sheds playing a harmonic on the wind. A new white stripe down the main street.

A strong sun and the smell of hot tar. Hot dogs which delight the taste buds and insult the stomach. Lawn sprinklers making peacock rainbows in the sun.

Peeling paint. Mother ducks ordering babies into the water; they speak like drill sergeants. The frenzy of fear before that first hit off the first tee. Mother wondering what is left in the closet that will do one more year.

Hanging a hammock too early. Gray squirrels on gray bark holding their breath until people go away. Boats up on wooden cradles insulted because their bottoms are being caulked. A mirror lake shattered by a skipping stone.

The unexpected stubbornness of storm windows. Giggling girls who seldom see the movie at the drive-in. Night study on the floor for those cruel, inevitable final examinations. The plaintive plea, "Can I go barefoot, Mom?"

The grace of a white sloop, nodding a greeting to each wave. The boss, dreaming vacantly behind his polished desk. The powder blue vault of a morning sky. Boy Scout troops, laden with gear, off on an overnight hike.

Overshoes weeping in the front hall. Pale bugs on a dark hedge. The first housefly, making a refueling stop at the dining room table. The fat farm horse, head down, pulling a plow, the ultimate in patience. Bluebirds hiding everything they can't eat.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hi there! It's been pretty lonesome out here until folks like you started ignorin' the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit. How're you doin'...?"

Weddings, Receptions Filling Spring Calendar

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, provided the setting for the wedding of Miss Kathleen Ann Houlihan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Francis Houlihan, 2 Willow Road, Saugerties, and Donald David Quesnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Donald Quesnell, 30 Appletree Drive, Saugerties, on Sunday, May 19.

The Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly officiated at the wedding ceremony and celebrated the Nuptial Mass. Traditional wedding selections were provided by Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney.

Thomas Houlihan gave his daughter in marriage. She selected a gown of white nylon sheer organza and cotton Venise lace. The gown featured a crescent waistline and Elizabethian sleeves. A garland of sheer pleating, topped with lace, accented the bodice, cuffs and hemline. Her chapel length mantilla was bordered with Chantilly lace. Mrs. Quesnell carried a cascade of daisies with streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Colleen Cheryl Houlihan, sister of the bride, 2 Willow Road, Saugerties. Bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Quesnell, sister of the bridegroom, 30 Appletree Drive, Saugerties; Diane Lack, 207 Washington Avenue, Saugerties and Jean Phillips, second cousin of the bride, Lake Katrine Apartments, who served as flower girl.

The attendants were attired in A-line gowns of yellow and pink. The empire chiffon gowns were styled with ruffled necklines, pinch-tucked bodices and bell sleeves, trimmed with lace and rosebuds. They also wore matching picture hats, accented with satin ribbons. The flower girl wore a headpiece of daisies and yellow satin ribbons.

The honor attendant carried a cascade of daisies and yellow pompons. The bridesmaids carried cascades of daisies and pink pompons and the flower girl carried a white basket with assorted pink and yellow flowers.

James Robert Quesnell, 30 Appletree Drive, Saugerties, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Thomas Swingle, 31 Appletree Drive, Saugerties; and Joseph Juliano, 19 West Birchwood Drive, Saugerties. Dennis Longendyke, second cousin of the bride, Jockey Hill Road, Kingston, served as ringbearer.

A reception was given at Sawyerkill Country Club, Washington Avenue, Saugerties.

Mrs. Quesnell was graduated in 1972 from Saugerties High School. She is employed by Ulster County Department of Health, Kingston.

Her husband, a 1972 alumnus of Saugerties High School, is employed by New York Telephone Company, Kingston.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, the couple will reside at Meadowbrook Drive, RD 1, Kingston.

St. Jospeh's Church, New Paltz, provided the setting for the wedding of Donna Marie Grainger of 9 North Ohioville Road, New Paltz, and George A. Wirthmann of 14 Shivertown Road, New Paltz, on Saturday, May 18.

The Rev. Daniel O'Hare officiated at the ceremony which was written by the bride and bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Grainger of New Paltz and Edward Grainger of Harrison. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wirthmann of New Paltz.

The bride wore a white satin and French lace gown, fashioned with a cathedral length train. Her veil was appliqued with lace flowerettes. Mrs. William Harriott made the bride's gown.

Miss Jill Savago, cousin of the bride, New Paltz, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Joanne Taylor, Mary Huber, both of New Paltz; and Robin MacMillan, Harrison. Miss Joni Savago, cousin of the bride, New Paltz, was flower girl.

The bride selected a color scheme of blue, yellow, green, pink and lavender for her attendants. The chiffon gowns featured dotted swiss overskirts. The attendants wore picture hats and carried baskets of mixed flowers.

The best man was Dennis Wirthmann, brother of the bridegroom, New Paltz. Paul Wirthman, brother of the bridegroom; Thomas Mundy, cousin of the bridegroom; and John Countryman, all of New Paltz; were ushers. Michael Grainger, brother of the bride, New Paltz, served as ringbearer.

A reception was held at The Hedges, West Park.

The bride, a graduate of New Paltz Central High School, is employed by First National Bank of Highland at New Paltz. Her husband was graduated from New Paltz Central High School. He served in the U.S. Navy and is the owner of Wirthmann's Garage.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Wirthmann will make their home at 372 Route 32, New Paltz.

Gladys Marie Henderson of Mt. Marion became the bride of Edward Allen Vaughn of Cedar Grove on Saturday, May 18 in St. John the Evangelist Church, Centerville.

The Rev. Msgr. John Reardon officiated at the ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were provided by Judy Fiero, church organist.

The former Miss Henderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson Jr. of 3 Middle Road, Mt. Marion and the granddaughter of Robert Henderson Sr. of Winthrop, Mass. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Vaughn of Peoples Road, Cedar Grove and the grandson of John W. Vaughn of Rosendale, owner of Vaughn's Pharmacy.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a Chantilly lace gown, fashioned with a high neckline, Renaissance sleeves, flared skirt and chapel train. Irridesence highlights accented the gown. The bride also wore an elbow length veil and carried a bouquet of daisies.

Mrs. Patricia Vaughn of Mt. Marion was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Annette Henderson, sister of the bride, Mt. Marion; Molly Brown, Nancy Ballucio, West Saugerties; Evelyn Pezzello, Mt. Marion; Debbie Verdon, Denise Richards, Saugerties; and Nancy Mower, Kingston. Junior bridesmaid was Judy Henderson, sister of the bride; and Tammy Vaughn served as flower girl.

For her bridal party the bride selected a color scheme of celery green, yellow, pink and blue. The attendants' chiffon empire gowns were accented with high necklines. They wore matching bows in their hair and carried bouquets of daisies.

The flower girl was attired in a yellow gown, similar in styling to that of the bride's and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Best man was John Vaughn, brother of the bridegroom, Mt. Marion. Ushering were George Mickle, Malden; Pat Flannery, Skip Flannery, Michael Flannery, all of Quarryville; Kevin Schneider, Ruby; Timmy Vaughn and Fred Vaughn, brothers of the bridegroom, Saugerties. Michael Daley of Mt. Marion was junior usher and Michael Henderson, brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

A reception was held at Highwoods Sportsmans Club.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Saugerties High School. She is employed by KTB Enterprise, Saugerties. Mrs. Vaughn plans to attend Dutchess Community College where she will major in Nursing.

Her husband, a 1967 graduate of Saugerties High School, served two years in the U.S. Army. He is employed by Jim Uhl Construction Company of Kingston as a carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn will reside at Box 308, West Saugerties. They plan to tour Europe at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent E. Secor of 205 Green Street, Port Ewen, announce the marriage of their daughter, Eileen Ruth, to Paul M. Gould, son of Mr. an Mrs. John F. Gould, RD 2, Jackson Avenue, Newburgh.

The wedding took place Sunday, May 19 in Mt. St. Mary Academy Chapel, Newburgh, with the Rev. Thomas B. Fenlon of St. Mary's Rectory, South Street, Newburgh, officiating. Wayne Cusher provided traditional wedding selections.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a Chantilly lace and peau de soie gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, high neck and long fitted sleeves, puffed at the top. The skirt was designed with panels of lace and peau de soie. A Juliet cap of seed pearls and lace held a fingertip veil of French illusion. The bride carried a nosegay of miniature white carnations, stephanotis, pink roses and ivy.

The bride's gown was made by her mother.

Honor attendant was Mrs. Chrys Debrosky of St. Remy. Attendants were Miss Kathy Peller, Hammond and Miss Donna Polhemus, Port Ewen.

The attendants wore semi-fitted flared gowns in shades of blue, mint green and powder blue. The bodices were gathered into front and back yokes of beige lace and featured cape sleeves. All attendants wore arrangements of stephanotis in their hair and carried nosegays of blue daisies, carnations and stephanotis.

Each attendant made her own gown.

The brother of the bridegroom, John W. Gould, Erie, Pa., was best man. Ushering were Robert O. Gould and William S. Gould, both brothers of the bridegroom of Newburgh.

A reception was held in the gardens of Bethlehem Art Gallery, Newburgh.

The bride, a 1969 graduate of Kingston High School, attended Mt. St. Mary College, Newburgh. She was graduated this year from State University of New York at New Paltz with a BA degree in Psychology, and is employed as a training supervisor by Orange County Association for the Help of Retarded Children.

Her husband was graduated from St. Patrick's High School, Newburgh; and attended Syracuse University. He is a 1969 alumnus of Marist College, where he was a History major. Mr. Gould is the managing director of Bethlehem Art Gallery, Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould will make their home at RD 2, Jackson Avenue, Newburgh.

Sweeney Piano Pupils to Perform

A group of James J. Sweeney's Piano pupils will play in the National Guild of Piano Teachers Annual Auditions on June 3 and 4 in the Kingston area.

This year, the Adjudicator will be Dr. Melvin Alford, of New Orleans, La. Dr. Alford is a concert pianist and conducts his private studio in New Orleans. He has performed throughout the South, California and the Rochester, N.Y. area, including the Eastman School of Music. Presently, he teaches on the Piano staff of Newcomb College, Trilane University.

Every Spring, since 1929, the National Guild Auditions have been sponsored in organized centers from coast to coast, for the purpose of stimulating interest in artistic piano playing. The performers do not compete against each other, but are individually scored. In programs of four or more pieces, the four periods of music must be represented.

The following students will perform: Alicia Barnes, Brenda Battaglia, Bonnie Bogumil, Nancy Charlesworth, Ruth Ann Charlesworth, James Childs, Paula Childs, Janetta Davis, Jeanne De Luca, Deborah Devine, Mary Beth Gilyardi, Ellen Gorman, Cathy Mainer, James Harder, Susan Hart, Elaine Kerr, Tara Larson, Tracy Larson, Mary Loughlin, Lee Ann Malloy, Ann Mentessi, Louise Netter, Patricia Netter, Timothy Scherer, Linda Schlichting, Rudy Schlichting.

Also: James Schnell, Lesli Sorensen, Albert Spada, Charles Spada, Jill Supka, Jay Thomas, Gregg Wagman, Marcy Wagman, Tara Wagman, Jay Williams, Petra Wilson and Lori Wisneski.

Mr. Sweeney is a faculty member of the National Guild of Piano Teachers and is also an adjudicator for the Guild. He is also chairman of the Kingston center auditions.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I can turn to with this problem because I'm ashamed to tell anyone else, although I haven't done anything wrong.

I'm 22. Six weeks ago my husband was killed instantly in a motorcycle accident. Jimmy and I had been married only eight months and were fantastically happy. My whole world fell apart. I didn't want to go on living and even thought of taking a bottle of sleeping pills so I could join Jimmy.

For a month I sat and stared at the walls. Then Jeff, a friend of Jim's, came over to cheer me up. I looked terrible. He made me fix myself up, and he took me for a long drive. I don't know how to say this, Abby, but all of a sudden all the hurt about Jim left me, and now I think I'm in love with Jeff.

Is it wrong to have these feelings so soon? I loved Jim with all my heart, but now I think I love Jeff. I think Jeff feels the same way about me although he hasn't said it in so many words. Should I feel guilty? Can this be love?

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: Yes, it can be love. It could also be a desperate desire to replace Jim and escape from depression. Don't rush into anything, and don't make any decisions or announcements until you are sure of your feelings. You need not feel guilt or shame for honest emotions. Good luck and God bless.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married for only five weeks last year. The marriage was annulled because her husband went back to his boyfriend. (Yes, you read right. I said, "boyfriend.")

Our daughter then resumed her friendship with a fine young man she had known since childhood, and they are planning to be married in church this summer.

Should we send wedding invitations to our friends and relatives? I hesitate to do this because they already gave her one wedding gift. She didn't send the gifts back because she never got around to it.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Invite whomever you want. The matter of a gift will be up to them.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice about what to say when making a condolence call was particularly timely for me.

I recently went to the hospital to have a baby I desperately wanted. I returned home with empty arms. Our precious baby was stillborn.

You are right. Not everyone handles his grief in the same manner. Some find comfort in talking about it. Others do not. In my case, I was so crushed, I couldn't bring myself to talk about it. Sensing this, the friends who came to see me said only, "I'm sorry."

All I could say was: "Thank you."

Abby, please tell your readers that in circumstances like mine, the only thing friends SHOULDN'T say is: "Don't feel so sad. You'll have another one," because I will never have THIS one again.

DEAR ABBY: Re condolences: Many, many years ago we lost our first child when he was only a few months old. Of the many things written to me, I recall only one, then and now.

Someone close said: "The only thing I can think of to say is that I love you."

Reaffirmation of one's love is important.

NFL Owners, Players Talking

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football League owners and players have stopped hurling epithets at each other and are now talking again.

The owners decided this week to pay the health insurance premiums for the players for six weeks as a "good will gesture" and the two sides have agreed to start meeting Thursday starting the week of June 9.

The two sides had not gotten together from April 4 until last Tuesday and Wednesday when they met under the auspices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Washington.

"In the interest of getting things going and as a good will gesture," said John Thompson, the executive director of the NFL Management Council, the owners have agreed to pick up these costs from June 1 to July 15." This "gesture" will cost the owners almost $60,000.

In Washington, an NFLPA spokesman said the gesture was an 'encouraging sign.'

But it's only a first step because the two sides are still far apart. "There were no major breakthroughs," Thompson said, "We've still got a lot of tough bargaining ahead of us. We haven't really gotten into the toughest issues yet."

The owners' agreement to start paying the health insurance premiums again will at least stop the two sides from hassling each other on that point.

The owners had stopped paying the premiums because they said the contract had expired. The players insisted the owners had previously agreed to pay the premiums until the start of the 1974 season and insisted they were reneging on the agreement.

The players had gone out and gotten their own insurance which was costing about $30 per player per month and the NFL owners will now pick up those premiums for six weeks.

In the meetings this week, Ed Garvey, the executive director of the NFLPA Leonard Lindquist, the group's labor counsel, and three players—Bill Curry, Kermit Alexander and Tom Keating — represented the players.

Thompson, special consultant Jim Finks, labor counsel Ted Kheel, general counsel Sargent Karch and Wellington Mara, the owner of the New York Giants, represented the owners.

The two sides can't begin talking next week because the ownrs are meeting in New York, Tuesday-Wednesday-Thursday and the player representatives are meeting in Chicago at the end of the week.

The two sides have been so far apart that they haven't even agreed whether or not the owners made counter-demands after the players presented their initial set of 57 demansd on April 4. They added 33 more demands in a letter on May 16. The players insist the owners didn't respond but virtually walked out of the April 4 meeting.

"We don't accept that characterization," Thompson said, "we responded very definitely in very specific langauge but we can't stop them from saying there was no response."

When the meetings resume the week beginning June 9, they will be held in New York. They will switch to Washington the following week and then rotate back and forth between the two cities.

The NFL exhibition season is sheduled to start on July 26 when the College All-Stars meet Miami. St. Louis is scheduled to meet Buffalo in the Hall of Fame game in Canton, Ohio on July 27 and the rest of the teams start on Aug. 2.

When the two sides signed a four-year contract in 1970, Kansas City was permitted to open camp for a week to practice for the College All-Star game. The players then left camp but an agreement was reached shortly after.

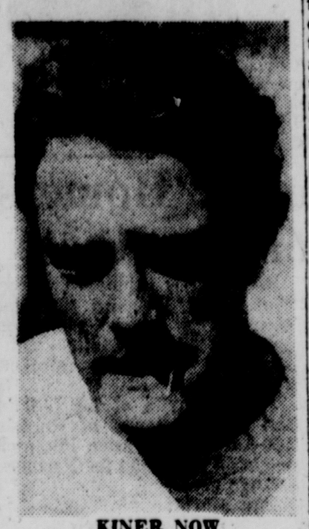

This year there's a real likelihood the NFLPA won't permit the Dolphins to play the All-Star game without a contract. Since the team would need a week's practice, the situation will become critical around July 20 if an agreement isn't reached by then.

Kiner's Drug Revelations

KINER THEN

KINER NOW

HOUSTON (UPI)—Houston Oiler Steve Kiner said he once believed he was so good he could get high on drugs the same day of a game.

It took him four years of bouncing between professional football teams to learn he wasn't.

"There was a time when I smoked grass every day," Kiner said. "I finally decided to get my head on straight."

Kiner said he got into the drug scene at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville.

"Drugs are society's problem," he said. "I just happened to get caught up in them I started into drugs the summer after my freshman year. I loved to get nigh and ride horses.

"I went back to school my sophomore year and told myself, 'I'm so good I can totally dedicate myself to football during the week and get high after the game Saturday night and Sunday.

"My Junior year, I told myself I was so good I could get high every day as long as I was ready to play Saturday. My senior year, I thought I was so good I could be nigh for a game."

Kiner went to the Dallas Cowboys after graduation in 1970.

"I went to Dallas and became the focal point of the drug scene", he said. "I guess because I was the drug scene in Knoxville. Grass. Speed. Mescaline Cocaine."

The linebacker then moved to New England, Miami, Washington and New England (a second time) in four NFL seasons.

At 26, Kiner no longer sports long hair and a droopy mustache. He cleaned up his act and was attending the Oilers' orientation camp. He said he's better without drugs.

Crews Vie for Spots

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)— Eleven heavyweight crews were to battle today for four openings in the finals in the varsity eight-oared event at the 72nd annual Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta.

The four crews that survive today's two repechage heats in the regatta's featured event wil. meet defending IRA champion. Wisconsin and Pennsylvania in the six-team finals on Saturday over the 2,000-meter Onondaga Lake course.

Wisconsin and Penn won their respective qualifying heats Thursday to advance to the finals. Teams which didn't win heats Thursday had to place first or second in repechage, or second chance heats today to reach Saturday's finals.

Although Wisconsin, the unanimous choice of the coaches to repeat, had the day's best time of 6:01.5, Badger coach Randy Jablonic was not satisfied with the performance.

"We won the race handily but on the other hand, everybody quit when we moved ahead. What does that prove?

"I really can't condemn other crews for doing that—they've got to save themselves for tomorrow—but that sort of thing is not allowed in international rowing, you know," Jablonic said.

Immediately after the race, Jablonic sent his varsity crew back to the head of the course for the workout he claimed it didn't get in the race. "I told them to sprint the last 1,000 meters this time," Jablonic said.

Northeastern, MIT, Cornell and Brown were the four heavyweight crews considered likely to join Wisconsin and Penn in the finals.

Wisconsin's Badgers, favored to win their third IRA crown since 1966, coasted into the finals with a comfortable three-length victory over Brown. Penn reached the finals with a narrow victory over MIT and Cornell.

In other competition Thursday, the veteran Badgers, which swept all three eight-oared events here last year, and Penn also scored qualifying victories in the varsity fours with coxswain and freshman eights events.

Penn Coach Ted Nash was pleased with the victories of the three Quaker shells, but he conceded that Wisconsin is "clearly the team to beat."

"We're not kidding ourselves," he said. "Wisconsin had the fastest time and they weren't even pushing it."

Marist and Princeton also made the finals in the freshman fours, and the Coast Guard, Syracuse and Yale each won heats in the varsity pairs without coxswain.

Three additional events—varsity pairs with coxswain, varsity fours without coxswain and the junior varsity eights—all are championship events scheduled for Saturday due to a limited number of entries.

Other repechage heats today included the freshman fours, varsity pairs without coxswain, varsity fours with coxswain and freshman eights.

Astros Happy With Johnson

The Houston Astros are happy they elected to ignore Jerry Johnson's 1973 performance when they got the chance to acquire the right-handed relief pitcher from the Cleveland Indians.

Who would have thought a pitcher who had a 5-6 record and a 6.18 earned run average for the Indians would help the Astros solve their bullpen problem?

The Astros, however, looked at Johnson's 12-9 record and 2.97 ERA in 67 games for the San Francisco Giants in 1972 and decided the latter figures were a more accurate reflection of the pitcher's ability.

Johnson gained his second victory without a loss Thursday night when the Astros beat the Montreal Expos 4-3 in 10 innings and called the game "one of the most exciting I've ever been in."

Johnson walked two batters in the ninth inning, filling the bases, but retired Ron Hunt for the final out of the inning and became the winning pitcher when Tommy Helms singled home the decisive run in the 10th.

Milt May led off the 10th with a single and both runners were safe on Bob Gallagher's sacrifice-fielder's choice. One out later, Helms looped a single to center field driving in the winning run.

The Astros carried a 3-0 lead into the eighth inning but Willie Davis tied the score when he homered with two on off Larry Dierker.

Jerry Morales' two-run double with two out in the eighth inning lifted the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 victory over the Giants in the only other major league game Thursday.

Leftfielder Gary Thomasson turned the wrong way at the base of Wrigley Field's left field wall and Morales drive caromed off for the game-winning hit. Relief pitcher Elias Sosa suffered his first loss of the season after five victories while Bill Bonham won his fourth game against eight losses.

• • •

Fernando Gonzales slammed a home run with the bases loaded in the third inning Thursday night to highlight a five-run outburst and send the Yankees on their way to a 9-4 triumph over the Mets in the annual Mayor's Trophy Game at Shea Stadium.

The Yankees added four more runs off Met starter and loser Mike Wegener and reliever Ray Sadecki in the fourth inning to take a 9-1 lead. Wegener had been brought up for the game from the Mets' farm system.

Watson Wants That 1st Win

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Tom Watson is an impatient young man.

"I've been in position to win three, maybe four times this year," he said. "I haven't won yet. I'm getting impatient. I want to win."

Watson, an articulate 24-year-old in his third season on the pro golf tour, made the observation Thursday after his course-record matching 65, seven under par. It gave him the first-round lead in the $250,000 Kemper Open.

Australian veteran Bruce Crampton was one shot back at 66 in this "designated tournament," one of three events on the schedule this season in which all of the game's leading players are required to compete.

"I had a chance to win last week in Memphis," said Watson, who has collected $62,000 this season but still lacks his first tour title. "I had a chance to win in Dallas. I had a chance to win in Los Angeles. And I was in pretty good shape in San Diego.

"My trouble is that I've been inconsistent.

"I just haven't finished as fast as I'd like to this year. I've had some good starts then let it get away.

In last week's Memphis Open, was in a large group at 68.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Masters champion Gary Player, Sam Snead, Lee Trevino and Lee Elder were in the group at 70.

Bert Yancey and Bob Menne each birdied the last three holes for 67s and a share of third. Hubert Green, a two-time winner this year and runner-up

Man Who Runs Open Hopes to Compete in It

NEW YORK (UPI) — The man who runs the U.S. Open golf championship hopes to play in it this year.

Frank "Sandy" Tatum Jr., a 53-year-old San Francisco lawyer who heads the championship committee of the U.S. Golf Association, will be among 602 players competing next week in sectional qualifiers for this year's tournament.

Tatum, a two-handicap amateur and former NCAA golf champion (1942 at Stanford) may be out just for a stroll in the sun, although he says it would be a "dream" if he qualified to play the Open instead of direct it.

"I'd happily pass getting up at 4:30 in the morning," said Tatum, who has had to get up at that ridiculous time to set the pin placements at the last two Opens.

Most of the other players, bidding for 121 spots in the Open—which begins June 13 at Mamaroneck, N.Y.—will have more practical things to gain when they play at 13 locations Monday and Tuesday. Every pro who qualifies for the Open wins a paycheck.

The biggest of qualifying test is scheduled Monday at Charlotte, N.C., where 93 players, including a large group of touring pros headed by Sam Snead, Gene Lktler and Chi Chi Rodriguez, compete for 45 spots.

Normally, Tatum's attention would be on the qualifiers and on getting the Winged Foot course ready for the Open, but these days he's thinking more seriously about qualifying himself.

"If somehow lightning struck, I'd get a great kick out of it," he says. "I think anybody who has played the game as long and as hard as I have has to be a dreamer."

A couple of months ago, Tatum shot a 69 at his home course, the San Francisco Golf Club, which coincidentally happens to be where he and 54 others will compete for seven spots in the Open lineup. Then Tatum told a friend, "I want to find out how difficult it is for a 53-year-old man to carry his own bag and qualify," and in the first stage of Open qualifying, Tatum earned the final spot by making a birdie at the last hole.

This week's qualifiers are the final ones.

"If I play as well as I'm capable of playing, I can qualify," Tatum says.

Qualifiers are scheduled Monday, besides Charlotte, at Denver, Chicago, Cincinnati, Portland, Ore., and Fort Worth, Tex. The others are Tuesday at San Francisco, Atlanta, Detroit, St. Louis, New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Twenty-nine players were exempt from all qualifying. That list included defending champion Johnny Miller, Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Gary Player.

Connors, Evonne in Court

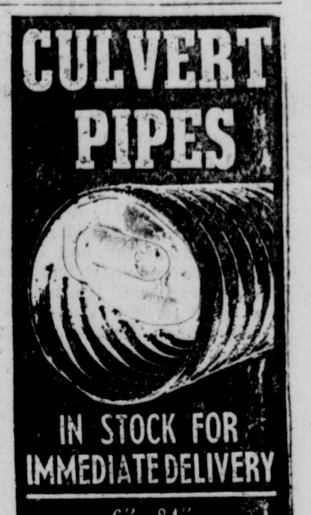

PARIS (AP) — Jimmy Connors and Evonne Goolagong both had matches scheduled today—and both were to be played in a Paris courtroom.

The two professional tennis stars—Connors from Belleville, Ill. and the Australian Miss Goolagong—filed suit here Thursday, challenging a ban imposed on them in the French Open Tennis Championships.

The court scheduled a hearing today on the matter with a decision promised by Saturday. Both players threatened to sue for damages if their request to have the ban lifted is denied.

The ruling of the court is being watched by many tennis professionals who, like Connors and Miss Goolagong, are members of the World Team Tennis League. The French sponsors and other European tournaments are fighting the league as detrimental to continental tennis.

Sawyer Tennis Team Takes DCSL Title

The Saugerties High School tennis team made it official Thursday afternoon. Crushing Beacon 5-0, the final opponent of the season, the Sawyers made their league record read 9-1 and locked up the DCSL championship.

It capped a couple of weeks of anticipation during which Saugerties had only to survive lesser foes to take the title. There was no letdown. Without top singles player Rich Rumble, who is currently in the quarterfinals of Section One play, Saugerties rolled past the Bulldogs.

Duane Jones set the tone of the match with a leadoff 8-0 whitewash of Mike Pruitt. Daryl Jones followed suit by downing Brian Peralta, 8-4. The deciding point came quickly as Andy Stoll polished off Andy Ludlum, 8-5 to complete the sweep of singles.

The Sawyer tandems poured it on. Ken del Rosario and Allen Simpkins took on Pruitt and Peralta and won, 8-3 Chuck Rosenberger and Todd Hackett ended the match with an 8-2. Chuck Rosenberger and Todd Hackett ended the match with an 8-2 route of Eric Letterio and Dave Pollack.

SHS coach Jack Welton, noting the balance of the league this season, pointed out the critical stages of the Sawyer campaign.

"Against Kingston, which was one of our key matches, our third man, Daryl Jones, had one of his finest days. That was the turning point for him. And against Roosevelt, which was another match which could have gone either way, our first doubles team of Rich Rumble and Duane Jones rebounded from singles losses to win the doubles from the Williams brothers. That gave us a come from behind win."

The overall Sawyer record was 14-2 with the only league loss occurring at Poughkeepsie in another close match.

"We knew we had a chance before the season," Welton said. "The boys just did a fine job all year. With all the good tennis programs around in other places, Saugerites doesn't often get a chance to do this well."

JAC Upsets OCS in Golf

WOODSTOCK

Its best performance of the year came at an opportune moment for the Coleman High golf squad Thursday. At the Woodstock Country Club, the Statesmen combined for a 162 team total and a one-stroke victory over favored Onteora to remain tied for the UCAL lead.

In other matches played, New Paltz turned back Fallsburgh, 195-207 at Locust Tree, and Ellenville faced Liberty. Results of the Ellenville-Liberty match were unavailable.

A. J. Maneen fired 39, John Baxter came through with a 40, Jeff Kelly produced a 41, and Steve Dulin added 42 as the Statesman record rose to 6-1. It was enough to nip OCS which received a medalist 38 from John Carlson, 40 from Jeff Buton, 42 from Jon Elwyn and 43 from Steve Scherbarth.

The loss left Onteora with a final 6-2 dual match record. Coleman has yet to face Fallsburgh but will enter the UCAL tournament at the Granit Tuesday as one of only two teams with only one defeat. The other leader will be the Ellenville-Liberty winner.

OCS, which is still alive in the UCAL race, ended the year 11-3-1 overall.

New Paltz faces Pine Bush today with a shot at a .500 season. The win over Fallsburgh boosted the Hugie slate to 3-4. Leading the victory was Kurt Grosshans who fired 44 for medalist honors. Gary Siegel added 48, Ken Garvin shot 51 and Mark Robertson carded 52 for the winners.

Fallsburgh got 48's from Bob Elliott and Arnold Seletsky, a 53 from Kris Nasa and a 58 from Rob Feldman.

Rondout Valley's King Sets Pole Vault Record

KYSERIKE

Rare Double For Witheral

NEW PALTZ

Alice Witheral accomplished a rare dual win in the 7th Annual Open Horse Show of the Ulster County 4-H Horse Leaders. Aboard Wedares Donzal, she won Senior English Grand Champion, then backed that by taking Senior Western Grand Champion on Spooky.

The Junior Grand Champions were Debbie Simpson, who rode Annigh Super Fine to the English title, and Jill Snow, who took Red Destiny to Western honors. Red Destiny also carried Snow to the Western Bareback Challenge Trophy.

Jo Anne Layman was the only other rider to win in two different categories. On Tally Ho! she was named Junior English Reserve Champion and in addition won the English Bareback Challenge Trophy.

The Senior English Reserve Champfion was Gary Cuz riding Wendy Mansfield. The Senior Western Reserve Champion was Donn Avallone on Eagle Cody. Marcia Ferricane rode Bobbi Jo to the Junior Western Reserve Championship, and Janet Walker, on Choc-o, won the Open Jumping Challenge Trophy.

Chambers Slams 2 Homers In Slo Pitch Contest

KINGSTON

Laura's crushed Telephone Boozers 24-0 in a four-inning City Slo Pitch A Division contest Thursday. Ron White, the Laura hurler, had a perfect game until pinch hitter Ernie Madison singled just past the reach of third baseman Joe Brown.

In other action, Corey Chambers slammed two homers and knocked in four runs to pace Guido's to a 14-6 win over La Lima's. John Nagy also homered. Rolling Acres won over Partners Lounge 10-6 and H&M TV downed Edgar's 6-1 on Paul Richard's 8-hitter.

Ron Burris unloaded three triples and a home run and knocked in seven runs for Laura's. Ken Hoffstatter homered and Dan Brown stroked three singles.

Pete Bonavita of La Lima's and Dan Mahoney of Guido's had three hits. Bruce Beesmer collected three hits for Partners Lounge.

Parnett Fires His First Ace

KINGSTON

Jack Parnett of Wiltwyck Golf Club aced the par-three, 130-yard third hole at Ridgeway Country Club at Mamaroneck last weekend. He negotiated his career-first hole-in-one with an 8-iron. Playing with him at the time were Harvey Bostic, the Wiltwyck pro, and John Hoey, Wiltwyck president.

Bob Davenport used nine handicap strokes to finish 18 feet from the 19th cup to win first place in the men's Flag Day torunament at Wiltwyck. He carded a 79. Bob Marks, who finished 6 feet from the 19th green, had seven strokes.

Other leaders were: Harry LeFever (13), in 19th fairway; Joe Dulin (11) in 19th fairway; Joe Murkoff (15) in 19th fairway; Dr. Charles Kovacs (12), drive off 19th tee.

Leon Randall, Ken Lowe and Stan Tatara all finished in the 18th cup. Randall had low gross 73.

Marion Burger (25) paced the women's division, winding up 12 inches from the 18th cup. Chalrotte Merritt (21) had drive on No. 18 and Natalie Woodard (23) ended in the 17th cup.

Donlon Leads Sawyer Sweep

SAUGERTIES

Joe Donlon fired low net 90-21-69 to win first place in the Memorial Day Sweeps at Sawyerkill Country Club. Dick Thornton was runnerup with net 71. George Barber and Arthur Evans had 72.

Dale Heinick posted low gross 77 and Dennis Beaver had 78.

Shad Fuller, Bob Rightmeyer and Horace Emerick tied with 77s in the Kickers tournament.

Ganders Eliminate Red Hook Nine, 6-5

MARLBORO

You've heard the old cliche a thousand times before: it's a whole new season at playoff time.

Unhappily for Red Hook High School, that new season started and ended with one game Thursday as Rondout Valley downed the Raiders, 6-5, in the Ulster County Atheltic League baseball semi-finals.

Rondout, which earned its way into the four-team playoff by being the second place team with the best win-loss record, thus vaulted past the team it finished second to in Division II and advanced to the league championship game. The finale, which will pit Rondout against the winner of Saturday's Wallkill-Liberty game, will take place Tuesday at a site to be determined.

Red Hook had entered the playoffs with the best record in the league and was an odds-on choice to take the title. But the Raiders couldn't hold a 5-3 lead in the last two innings nad dropped out of contention at the hands of Coach Jeff Spiegel's pesky Ganders.

The game started as a pitching dual between Rondout's Ernie Cesana and Red Hook's Greg Martin. Through four innings it was scoreless.

But in the fifth Rondout broke the silence to score three runs, two on a base-clearing hit by Bill Redding which sent Todd Buswell and Cesa in, and another on a single by Dave Schmeltz.

The aroused Raiders got those three runs right back and added two more to boot in the bottom of the fifth. The big blows of the frame were two-run singles by Jim Simmons and Corky Bayer.

Rondout, however, wasn't to be denied. The Ganders tied the game in the top of the sixth — and RBI single by Schmeltz the key hit — and won it in the top of the seventh.

In that deciding inning, Rondout did its damage off relief pitcher Simmons, with two out. Simmons got himself into trouble by walking Jeff Mahoney. Big Joe McCall then cracked a single, Mahoney stopped at second where he was replaced by pinch-runner Kevin Van Wagenen.

That brought Buswell to bat and he ripped a single to right field. Martin couldn't come up with it cleanly and Van Wagenen raced home.

Purcell got the win in relief of Cesana with two and two-thirds innings of hitless ball; Simmons took the loss.

So for Rondout, which twice had lost to Red Hook during the regular season, a championship is one game away. And for Red Hook, which has been close every season, it's another "wait 'til next year."

The box score:

Westfall Given Conacher Trophy

TORONTO (AP) — Ed Westfall, captain of the New York Islanders of the National Hockey League, was awarded the Trophy Thursday for his work with the retarded and physically handicapped.

The trophy, presented at the Charlie Conacher Hockey Awards Dinner, goes annually to the NHL player deemed to have made the most outstanding humanitarian contribution.

Westfall's younger brother, Howard, 28, is retarded.

"Through Howard, I realize that these people can be helped and shouldn't be shut in a closet," he said.

And here's how Dart did against the Chevy Nova and Ford Maverick.
A 1974 Dodge Dart Swinger equipped with a 225 Slant Six engine and an automatic transmission got 2.3 more miles per gallon than a Chevy Nova which had a stick shift! That was on the open road for 972 miles at an average speed of 53 mph. The Dart (with an automatic transmission, remember) got the same gas mileage as a Ford Maverick, but the amazing thing is that Swinger is bigger than Maverick and the Maverick had a stick shift!

Woody Herman At Monticello

MONTICELLO

Racing fans can face the music tonight, if they show up at Monticello Raceway by 6:45 p.m.

That's when the concert by Woody Herman and his young herd begins. One of the top bands in the country, Herman and his group will perform until post time at 8 p.m. There is no extra charge for the concert.

Tonight's open handicap feature trot will see Bob Collins, who spent the whole mile last week searching for the rail, try to square things from the outside of the six-horse field. Sam Smith showed no mercy driving Putnam from the wood, parking everyone through a 1:01 half, and still having enough left to hold off a late surge from Don Gillis' Sharp Volo.

Olive Softies Have Their Day At the Plate

OLIVEBRIDGE

They have fun in the Olive men's softball league. In the game between Marty Giuliano Excavating and Dial Barber and Beauty Shop, 13 of the 19 players involved collected three hits. Between them the teams had 46, as the Excavators beat the Beauticians, 19-16.

In another game, Tetta's General Store nipped Singer-Denman with only 30 hits between the teams.

Dennis Landher rapped a single, double and triple. Bill Parete had two doubles and a triple; John Bachor, a triple and two singles; Marty Giuliano, two doubles and a single; and Bill Pleickhart, two doubles and a single.

Bill Saveskie of Singer-Denman hit a double and two singles.

Eastchester Ousts KHS

CHAPPAQUA

Eastchester High scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to edge Kingston, 5-4, in the Section One girls softball tournament.

KHS, which had started out the season by losing five of its first six games then rallying to win six straight, gave third seeded Eastchester a tussle.

The downstaters scored the game's first run, but Kingston put three of its own on the board in the top of the fifth. Eastchester came back to tie the count in the bottom of the inning and go ahead with one in the sixth, but KHS evened matters again in the seventh. That set the stage for Eastchester's winning rally.

Kingston collected ten hits in the contest, two each by Pam Thomas, Sandy Mancuso, and Debbie Helzer. The Maroons got doubles from Mancuso and Helzer and a triple from losing pitcher Barbara Myers.

Myers struck out three and walked seven, yielding six hits, in taking the defeat. Lin Vacca got the win for Eastchester.

Kingston loses only three players from this year's team to graduation, thus indicating that next season's squad will show further improvement.

DCC Rites Sunday

POUGHKEEPSIE

The largest class in Dutchess Community College history will graduate June 2.

More than 700 candidates who qualified for associate degrees in August, January, and June will be honored by the college's trustees and professional staff during commencement exercises at the college's athletic field.

The 15th annual commencement is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. under the large canopy.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Thomas S. Elias, administrator of the Cary Arboretum in Millbrook.

Since joining the arboretum in January, 1972 Dr. Elias has supervised much of the development there, including a street and shade tree research program, and he is continuing his basic research in insect/plant relationships.

In addition, Dr. Elias is actively working on programs and legislation to protect rare and endangered species of plants and unique habitats from destruction.

His commencement topic will be "The New Ethic," concerned with the necessity of developing new standards and priorites in our economic, social, and educational systems.

Robert McKinney, executive dean, will present candidates and President John J. Connolly will confer degrees on behalf of the board of trustees.

Workshop Stresses Salesmanship

By CARL GRAHAM

KINGSTON

The "pregnant pause" is an essential ingredient of soap operas. The "potent pause" is an essential ingredient of good salesmanship.

This was one of the points made by Dr. E. Milton Grassell Thursday night at a customer relations workshop for area businessmen and women sponsored by the Ulster County Chamber of Commerce. Grassell's three-hour clinic in the Governor Clinton Hotel was followed by another three-hour session this morning on "Instant Management," techiniques that can be applied without delay to help a business operate more efficiently.

The workshop, presented by the Chamber's Ways and Means Committee under realtor Howard Fox, was the second in a series being offered to area business personnel.

Grassell, a former college president who now conducts talks, clinics, and seminars across the country, explains that the potent pause, properly used by a salesman, enables him to determine the true needs of the customer by listening to his objections, which Grassell said can be valuable clues.

Other points covered in the seminar included the need for effective communication, ways of handling irate customers, the use of open-ended questions, motivation techniques, proper use of the telephone, and the importance of a person's self-image in the way he conducts his life.

"Everyone is a salesman, whether he knows it or not," he told his audience of 20 persons from various businesses and professions.

Grassell used several graphic examples to illustrate his theme that no two people see things in the same way. Four participants, sent to the hotel lobby for a brief observation period, listed more than 20 items they had observed, but in only a few cases did the observations of one person duplicate those of another.

To illustrate the difficulty of establishing proper communication between salesman and customer, he noted that the dictionary lists more than 14,000 meanings for 500 common words in everyday use, making it easy for people to misunderstand each other although they are using the same words and phrases.

Participants acted out various skits as customers and salesmen to illustrate Grassell's techniques, which begin with the first contact between the two. Simulated telephone conversations gave the audience new insights into the proper way to conduct a conversation with someone you cannot see.

Grassell, who resigned his college presidency three years ago to found his own firm, gave talks and conducted seminars in 60 cities in 18 states during his first year as a lecturer. His talks, sponsored by colleges, businesses, Chambers of Commerce, hospitals, and the U.S. Civil Service Commission, keep him on the road constantly. He was scheduled to leave this afternoon for Kennedy Airport and a flight to his California home for a brief pause before taking off again.

Len Cane, the Chamber's executive vice president, said that another workshop would be offered to Ulster County businessmen in October. Details will be announced later.

Duryea Roadblock Buries Wilson Rent Control Bill

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Gov. Malcolm Wilson says he is "deeply disappointed" that the Assembly failed to consider proposed changes in a rent control law before the legislature's special session was adjourned Thursday.

Although failing to come to grips with the amendments to the rent control measure, the legislators did pass several other bills during the two-day special session, held less than two weeks after adjournment of the regular session.

The lawmakers approved a package of bills creating new congressional and state legislative districts in Brooklyn and Manhattan — the original reason for the special session.

Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea said he was of the opinion that there should be no changes in the rent control law, which was approved only hours before the lawmakers wound up the regular session, until there was an opportunity to see how it worked.

Wilson, who signed the main rent control bill Wednesday night, had said he did not like all of its provisions and would seek revisions at the special session.

The changes included a new method of computing initial rents in the affected areas — New York City and the suburban counties of Nassau, Westchester and Rockland — and a beefed up procedure for appealing rents.

The Senate approved the amendments on a party line vote following two hours of debate Thursday. Democrats were in opposition. The arguments appeared almost academic, however, because the senators were aware that the Assembly was not going to act on the measures.

Duryea also said, according to a spokesman, that because Wilson had called the special session to deal with reapportionment of legislative and congressional districts in Brooklyn and Manhattan, "the mood of the legislators was to deal with reapportionment and that alone."

The rent control law has been dubbed "pro-landlord," but supporters of the proposal say its provisions represent an effort to balance the interests of landlords and tenants with advantages to neither side.

All told, about 1.4 million housing units will come under its provisions in the city and three suburban counties, with rents being negotiated on a formula provided through complicated guidelines

The reapportionment issue came before the legislature following a U.S. Justice Department complaint that voter turnout in predominately black and Puerto Rican districts was too low and that the lines should be redrawn to improve voter participation.

Done under the hands of the Republican-controlled legislature, the redistricting struck hardest at white Democrats, including U.S. Rep. John Rooney, dean of the state's congressional delegation.

Other Democratic lawmakers whose districts were virtually eliminated were state senators Carol Bellamy and Chester Straub of Brooklyn, Assemblymen Frank Barbaro and Peter Mirto of Brooklyn and Assemblyman Franz Leichter of Manhattan. A black Democrat, Assemblyman Mark Southall of Manhattan, also ended up in a sharply altered district.

The bills passed both houses Wednesday following long, caustic attacks by Democrats.

During the special session, the lawmakers also approved measures which would provide $75,000 to finance a temporary commission on judicial conduct and a bill which would allow school districts to postpone until September a requirement that candidates for school boards be listed on the ballot by lot rather than alphabetically.

The special session was the second one in two years for the legislature. Under the state constitution, only the governor can call a special session and he alone can decide what issues will be presented for legislative consideration.

Groups Against Utility Present a United Front

By TIM SCHUSTER

KINGSTON

When citizens and consumers who are irate, concerned, and senior get together one might expect some sort of revolt — and the consumer revolt was documented in Ulster County Thursday night in just such a manner.

An atmosphere of jubilance, determination, and optimism greeted those who visited the Irate Consumers of Ulster County meeting at Bonanza Branch, Heritage Savings Bank.

They came to hear, and were cajoled to participate in the fight by the citizens' groups who sought moral and financial aid from the public they claim to represent in the class action lawsuit promulgated against Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation this week.

Speaking were Jack Walter, president of Irate Consumers; Belle Sundeen, member of Concerned Consumers of Lower Ulster County; and Antoinette Tennant, president of the Senior Citizens Alliance of Ulster County.

Walter explained at the outset that the groups are not opposed to corporations making profits, but "they're taking profits above profits." He said that Central Hudson was "really concerned," and did not know how to handle the problem engendered by thousands of county customers deducting the fuel adjustment cost from their electric bills.

Mrs. Tennant said that if there had been a question as to whether the senior citizens would join in the suit, it had been erased after a Central Hudson presentation to the group that featured a 1950 Westinghouse movie and what she termed the company's "insulting attitude."

"How antiquated must be their methods?" she asked. "No wonder they can't cope in 1974."

Mrs. Sundeen, after giving a brief history of the Concerned Consumers (they are two years old), presented a resume of the current work.

"For the past four months the organizations concerned have been in a battle for survival in fighting the onslaught of utilities on our whole standard of living," she began.

The stand was taken in Ellenville when members pledged to withhold the fuel adjustment surcharge from their bills, and the idea caught on in a manner that took its proponents by surprise, she said.

When "the thing began to mushroom," she said, it was found that Central Hudson seemed to have no consistent policy in treating those who withheld money. Some were never notified, some had partial checks returned, and some leaders of the movement received notices that their service would be cut off within eight days.

The first hearing on the suit filed by the consumer groups will be held June 7 in State Supreme Court in Kingston, and Mrs. Sundeen said, "If you want a good lesson on how utilities and the judicial works, come to the hearing."

LEGAL NOTICES

INVITATION TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received, publicly opened and read in the Board of Education Business Office, Administrative Center, 61 Crown Street, Kingston, New York, by Dr. Richard C. Schleifer, Assistant Superintendent for Business Management, on Friday, June 7, 1974, at 11:00 a.m. for "CUSTODIAL SUPPLIES BID".

Copies of specifications and conditions may be obtained at the above address.

LOUIS A. SALZMANN, Clerk
Board of Education

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on order entered by the County Court, Ulster County, on the 3rd day of May, 1974, bearing index number 74/783, a copy of which may be examined at the Office of the Clerk of Ulster County, Kingston, New York, grants me the right, effective on the first day of July, 1974, to assume the name of George Wesley Nace. My present address is Hudson Terrace, Marlboro, New York; the date of my birth is December 29, 1967; the place of my birth is Poughkeepsie, New York; my present name is George Edward Alan Nace.

Take notice that I, Marilyn Grassi, Treasurer of the Village of Rosendale, have received the warrant and tax roll, and will be available for the collection of taxes as of June 3rd, 1974 up to and including Monday, July 1st, 1974, between the hours of 9 A.M. and 4 P.M. each week-day except Saturdays, Sundays, and Holidays, at my home, Box 311A, Parkcrest Drive, Rosendale.

Unpaid taxes will be subjected to 5% interest penalty during first delinquent month and ½% interest for each delinquent month thereafter.

PUBLIC NOTICE
No. NPDES 74-917

Date: May 31, 1974

Notice is hereby given that the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has received a complete application (No. NY 0021563) from the Town of Ulster (the Applicant) for a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit to discharge pollutants into navigable waters under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (the Act) (33 U.S. Code §§1251-1376).

The applicant provides biological treatment, and chlorination for an average design flow of 1.26 MGD with a current daily average flow of 0.35 MGD. There is one existing outfall discharging treated sanitary wastewater into Esopus Creek. The discharge is located at 41° 57' 55" N Latitude and 74° 00' 22" W Longitude, 10 feet from shore, at a depth of 3 feet below the water surface, and is designated as discharge number 001.

The Region II staff of EPA has tentatively determined to issue a permit to the Applicant subject to certain effluent limitations and other conditions necessary to carry out the provisions of the Act. Interested persons may submit written comments on the tentative determinations to the Regional Administrator at the above address no later than July 1, 1974. The period for submitting comments may be extended if the public interest warrants.

A copy oof the draft NPDES permit and other available information may be obtained by mail from the Region II Office, Room 1005, 26 Federal Plaza, New York, New York 10007, or by calling 212-264-2515 or in person between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Other forms and relevant documents may be inspected at said office. Copies will be provided at a charge of $.20 per copy sheet.

In lieu of, or in addition to, the submission of comments as above provided, any interested person may request that the Regional Administrator hold a hearing to consider the permit application and the tentative determinations with respect thereto. Any request for a hearing shall:

(a) be in writing and submitted to the Regional Administrator no later than July 1, 1974.

(b) specify whether an informal Public Hearing under §125.34 (b) of Code of Federal Regulations (Federal Register, May 22, 1973, pp. 13528, 13537) or a formal Adjudicatory Hearing under §125.34 (c) of said Code (ibid.) is requested.

(c) state the name and address of the person making the request and of any other persons represented by him.

(d) identify the interest of the requester and of any person he represents which would be affected by the issuance or non-issuance of the permit.

(e) state with particularity the reason for the request, the issues proposed for consideration at the hearing and the requester's position thereon.

(f) include an agreement, if the request is for an Adjudicatory Hearing, by the requester and any person represented by the requester, to be subject to examination and cross-examination, and in the case of a corporation, to make any employe available for examination and cross examination at his own expense on the request of the presiding officer, on his own motion or on the motion of any party.

If the Regional Administrator finds there is a significant degree of public interest in the proposed permit he will hold an informal Public Hearing. If he finds that a request for a formal Adjudicatory Hearing is timely, meets the above requirements, and sets forth material issues relevant to the question whether a permit should be issued and with what conditions, he will assign the matter for an Adjudicatory Hearing. If a Public Hearing is held, the Regional Administrator will make such modifications in the terms and conditions of the proposed permit as may be appropriate and will issue or deny the permit. Notice thereof will be issued to all persons who participate in the Public Hearing or whose names appear on the NPDES mailing list maintained by EPA, Region II. Within 20 days thereafter any person may submit to the Regional Administrator a request, complying with the requirements set forth above, for an Adjudicatory Hearing to consider the proposed permit and its conditions. If such request is granted, any other interested person may submit a request to be a party within 30 days after the date of publication of public notice of an Adjudicatory Hearing and the matter shall be assigned for such a hearing as provided above.

If no request for a Public Hearing or an Adjudicatory Hearing is granted, the Regional Administrator, after consideration of (a) the tentative determinations, (b) any comments received from interested persons and (c) the requirements of the Act and regulations promulgated thereunder will make final determinations with respect to the proposed permit. If such determinations involve no significant changes in the draft permit, the Regional Administrator will issue the permit subject to such changes, if any. If significant changes are involved, the Regional Administrator will forward the revised determinations to the Applicant and will give public notice thereof.

EPA's decision on the question of whether to hold any Hearing, formal or informal, the administration of the EPA Hearings, and the rights and obligations of participants therein are governed by NPDES Regulations (40 Code of Federal Regulations 125).

If no Hearing is held, the Regional Administrator will consider the issuance of a final permit to the applicant as soon as possible after the date indicated above for the submission of comments. All written comments timely submitted in response to this Public Notice, and statements and other evidence properly submitted at any Hearing held will be considered by the Regional Administrator, EPA, Region II in the formulation of his final determinations with respect to the application for a permit.

Awards for Two Paltz Professors

NEW PALTZ — Two professors in the English Department of the State University College at New Paltz have recently received awards in their field.

Carley Rees Bogarad, assistant professor of English and world literature, has accepted an invitation to join the Danforth Associate Program. The program, one of the most prestigious in academic circles, is an effort to recognize and encourage good teaching and humane values in the educational process.

Dr. Bogarad received her B.A. degree from West Virginia University, summa cum laude, her master's degree from Ohio State univeristy, summa cum laude, in 1963, and her Ph.D from City University of New York, in 1972, with distinction. She joined the New Paltz faculty in 1967.

Judith Banzer Farr, associate professor English, has received an American Council of Learned Societies travel grant of $2,000 to work on her critical biography of Elinor Wylie entitled "Language from Spirit—The Art of Elinor Wylie."

Dr. Farr was graduated cum laude in 1957 from Marymount College, with a B.A. in English and French, received an M.A. with honors from Yale University in 1959, and her Ph.D. from Yale in 1965. She joined the New Paltz faculty in 1968

LEGAL NOTICES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Planning Board of the Town of Olive will hold a public hearing pursuant to Section 276 of the Town Law on the application of Valda Construction Corporation for approval of a Subdivision Plat entitled "Butternut Knolls." Said Subdivision is located on the west side of Turner Lane in the Hamlet of West Shokan on lands formerly of the Timmerman Estate.

SAID HEARING will be held on the 5th day of June, 1974, at the Olive Free Library in West Shokan, New York, at 7:30 p.m. at which time all interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard.

By order of the Planning Board.

No. NPDES 74-882
Date: May 31, 1974

Notice of Aplication for NPDES Permit and Notice of Consideration for State Certification.

Notice is hereby given that the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has received a complete application (No. NY 0026565) from the N.Y.C. Bureau of Water Supply, Dept. of Water Resources, Shokan, New York (the Applicant) for a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit to discharge pollutants into navigable waters under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, 33 U.S. Code §§1251-1376 (the Act), and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (NYSDEC) has been requested to certify (the discharge in accordance with the provisions of §401 of the Act (33 U.S.C. §1341).

The applicant provides secondary treatment and disinfection for the sanitary wastewater from the Town of Roxbury at its Grand Gorge Sewage Treatment Plant located in Grand Gorge, New York. Treatment consists of Primary Sedimentation followed by intermittent sand filters and chlorination. The effluent is discharged into the Bearkill, a tributary to the Schoharie Reservoir, at a point adjacent to the treatment facility.

The plant is designed to treat and chlorinate a design flow of 0.13 MGD. The plant has been discharging through one outfall (No. 001), a daily average flow of 0.205 MGD.

On the basis of preliminary review and application of lawful standards and regulations, NYSDEC proposes to certify and the Region II staff of EPA proposes to issue a permit to the Applicant subject to certain effluent limitations and other conditions necessary to carry out the provisions of the Act. These proposed determinations are tentative.

Interested persons may submit written comments on the tentative determinations to the Chief, Permits Administration Branch, EPA, Region II, at the above address no later than July 1, 1974. The period for submitting comments may be extended if the public interest warrants.

A copy of the draft NPDES permit and other available information, including certification materials, may be obtained by mail from the Permits Administration Branch, EPA, Region II, at the above address, or by calling (212) 264-9861, or in person between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Copies will be provided at a charge of $.20 per copy sheet.

In lieu of, or in addition to, the submission of comments as above provided, any interested person may resquest that the Regional Administrator of the EPA hold a Hearing to consider the permit application, and/or the tentative determinations with respect thereto, and/or may request that the Commissioner of the NYSDEC hold a hearing regarding the certification of the proposed discharge.

Any request for a Public Hearing under 6 NYCRR 608.16 regarding NYSDEC's certification of the proposed discharge should be in writing and submitted to: Chief, P.D.E.S. Permit Section, Bureau of Standards and Compliance, Division of Pure Waters, NYSDEC, at the above address with a copy of the request to the Permits Administration Branch, EPA, Region II at the above address, no later than July 1, 1974.

Any request for an informal Public Hearing under 40 Code of Federal Regulations §125.34(b), or a formal Adjudicatory Hearing under §125.34(c) to consider the permit application and/or EPA's tentative determinations with respect thereto, must meet the requirements of the cited Regulations, be in writing, and be submitted to the Permits Administration Branch, EPA, Region II, at the above address with a copy of the request to the Chief, P.D.E.S. Permit Section, NYSDEC, at the above address, no later than July 1, 1974.

If NYSDEC orders that a Public Hearing be held regarding its certification, and the Regional Administrator of EPA, Region II has also ordered an informal Public Hearing, the hearings will be held jointly by NYSDEC and EPA. If no informal Public Hearing has been ordered by the Regional Administrator, NYSDEC may itself hold a Public Hearing regarding its certification.

EPA's decision on the question of whether to hold any Hearing, formal or informal, the administration of the EPA Hearings, and the rights and obligations of participants therein are governed by NPDES Regulations (40 Code of Federal Regulations 125).

If no Hearing is held, the Regional Administrator will consider the issuance of a final permit to the applicant as soon as possible after the date indicated above for the submission of comments. All written comments timely submitted in response to this Public Notice, and statements and other evidence properly submitted at any Hearing held will be considered by the Regional Administrator, EPA, Region II in the formulation of his final determinations with respect to the application for a permit.

Your Astrograph

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will turn out to be a pleasant day for you if you leave business and commercial matters alone. Relax. Have fun.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A slight disagreement will arise today with your mate regarding your social plans. You'll each compromise a little.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're not going to feel too much like tackling a chore that's facing you. Once you get into it you'll see it through to completion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Without intending to, you will hurt the feelings of a friend. Someone else will tell you of this. You'll smooth it out.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Rather than thinking about entertaining outsiders, there is someone closer to you who would be thrilled by an invitation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your attitude will contrast sharply today from one of levity to one of sobriety. Try not to be too serious around others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In purchases where you have some leeway to bargain, don't take the first price asked. Negotiate a bit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A decision you'll be making will first be influenced by its artificial luster. However, you'll spot this flaw and act wisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're going to be tempted to tell another something best kept to yourself. You won't — later, you'll be glad you remained silent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It wouldn't be too wise to pay lots of attention to a new-found friend at the expense of offending an old pal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Deeds, not words, are what you'll need today to win the respect of others. That's what you'll be offering.

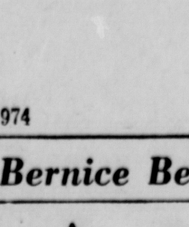

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you'll encounter socially will be a big help where your future plans are concerned. Show this person you're sincere.

Lots of activity where work or career is concerned this year. Industriousness will pay dual dividends by way of increaseed earnings and more important responsibilities.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

EARLY CALL: (Q.) I'm going out with Bill. I really like him. But he's always with my best friend Fran. When I ask him about Fran he just says she's a friend, that's all. When I ask Fran she says Bill's nice

Well, last weekend Bill's parents were out of town and Saturday morning I went by to pick him up for work at 7:30. I do that every Saturday. It's routine. Fran answered the door.

Bill says he still loves me, but what can I think and do?—Suspicious in Connecticut

(A.) Friendship is one thing. Playing house is another. Ask Bill to make a decision between you and Fran.

FIRST DATE: (Q.) I have asked Edy to go to a party with me. It is the first date for me. I do not know whether it is the first date for her, but I know she isn't going with anyone regularly.

The question is, should I kiss her when I drop her off at home? I am 14.—Wondering in New York

(A.) Kiss her only if you really want to.

You are pretty young and may prefer to wait.

Reese and Dormer point out that in the ordinary bridge game West's queen of clubs would hold the first trick. He would continue the suit whereupon South would take his ace and wind up with eight or nine tricks, depending on whether or not he elected to ruff the third club with dummy's six or nine.

This wouldn't happen in an expert game. West's queen of clubs would still hold that first trick, but West would stop for a short period of thought.

He would decide first that East did not hold the ace-king of clubs. With both those cards he would win the first trick in order to lead a trump. Therefore, South was marked with the ace of clubs.

How about the ace and queen of spades? South might have both those cards also but it wouldn't be likely. With ace-queen, ace and a long suit South would almost surely have made some more enterprising bid than a mere two spades.

After all that thought West would plunk the king of spades on the table at trick two and continue the suit. The defense would collect two trumps, three clubs, one diamond and 100 points above the line.

Two American presidents have been honored with the Nobel Peace Prize. Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson each received this award for their efforts to better mankind, The World Almanac recalls. Roosevelt was honored in 1906 for his services as mediator during the Russo-Japanese War in 1905. In 1919, Wilson received the prize for his efforts in establishing the League of Nations.

PILGRIM REPLICA READY TO SAIL — A new sailing vessel is to slide down the ways in Setubal, Portugal today with an unusual life ahead and an unusual crew waiting to board. The vessel is a replica of the 100-foot brig "Pilgrim" so named to honor the historic 180-tonner in which Richard Henry Dana sailed from Boston harbor 140 years ago and from which came his deep sea classic, "Two Years Before the Mast." At (R) is photo of painting of the famous brig done by Ray Wallace who will captain the new ship on a year-long voyage to her home port of Monterey, Calif., making 32 ports of call en route. Fighting Continues On Golan Heights

ISRAELI FRONT, Occupied Syria (AP) — The plan to bring peace to the Golan Heights was ready for signing, but for a grimy-faced Israeli gunner loading shells into a 175mm howitzer, it was business as usual.

"Peace hasn't broken out yet. It's the same here today as it's been for weeks," he said.

Israeli and Syrian forces were pounding each other with tank and artillery shells Thursday, the day after both sides agreed to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's disengagement pact.

Israeli soldiers, Arabs in Israeli-occupied Syrian villages and Jewish settlers on the Heights waited in hope that peace would come after 80 consecutive days of shooting, but in fear that it wouldn't.

"When we heard the news of the agreement, it produced a new feeling that maybe the last days of fighting will come soon," said artillery Sgt. Haim Gross.

But Gross said the news had no effect on his orders. His battery of hulking, smoke-blackened 175mm howitzers blasted Syrian positions all day after incoming shells hit the Israelis in the southern Golan and atop strategic Mt. Hermon.

In the Arab village of Harfa, occupied on the 12th day of the October war by Israeli forces pushing toward Damascus, villagers were overjoyed with the news they would be returned to Syrian rule.

"We will welcome the Syrian soldiers like our own family," said the village mukhtar — headman — Salman Yusef Atmat. "Soon we will be Syrians again."

The tiny hilltop village of mud huts and crushed stone paths has been caught between barking Israeli and Syrian batteries since the October ceasefire. Five villagers have died from Syrian shells.

In the Jewish Golan settlement of Ein Zivan, Israeli frontiersmen brooded in their shelters as Syrian shells churned their fields.

"I'm against the agreement," said Moshe Segal, 26, American-born immigrant from Philadelphia. He slung his Russian-made carnine over his shoulder and shrugged: "Kissinger's doing a fine job for the United States, but he isn't making Israel any more secure.

"The Syrians have yet to say they really want peace with us. The disengagement is only the first step toward big troubles."

Two Sought In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Authorities searched for at least two more suspects in connection with an hour-long shootout in suburban East Cleveland Thursday between about 100 policemen and members of a religious sect who tried to kidnap a man they considered a drug pusher.

Five policemen were wounded, one critically, and two hostages were hit by fire as they fled from the home where a family of 10 was held during the midnight battle in which an estimated 500 shots were fired.

Charged with kidnaping and felonious assault were Graig Fowler, 27, East Cleveland; Charles Jordan, 22, Cleveland, and Larry Johnson, 24, Cleveland, who proclaimed themselves members of the Sunni Orthodox religious sect, which provided pallbearers at the funeral last week of Symbionese Liberation Army leader Donald DeFreeze. But authorities said there was no known connection between the two organizations and it was not known if any of those held was in the funeral.

During the firing Fowler was interviewed by telephone by a local radio station.

"We went after a dope killer tonight," he said. "We're not afraid of death. We went to get him. Nobody innocent is going to be killed."

"They said their primary purpose is to eliminate all drug pushers," said police Lt. Milton Jennrich.

He refused to disclose where the men were being held because "we feel attempts would be made to free them. That, we don't need at this point."

Patrolman Gerald Schetterer, 31, was in poor condition at Huron Road Hospital after surgery for a bullet wound in the temple.

John O'Brien, 19, was in fair condition and his brother, Dennis, 31, was in poor condition, both wounded in the chest and legs as they fled the house where the gunmen held 10 members of their family hostage until police gunfire and teargas flushed them out.

'Radicals Will Hide Patty'... Randolph Hearst In Interview

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (UPI) — Patricia Hearst's father Thursday said he believes she can how hide out with radical sympathizers, "I think forever."

Randolph A. Hearst told newsmen that he felt the Los Angeles shootout with police in which six Symbionese Liberation Army members died would help his daughter and two other SLA fugitives in their flight from the law.

"Until the shootout, they didn't have the sympathy of the radicals," he said. "But now it is different. She can now go underground, I think forever."

Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, said the deaths of the six SLA members offset the lack of support for the terrorists among the radical element after the assassination of Oakland School Superintendent Marcus Foster in November, 1973.

The SLA says it killed Foster, a black, because of a proposed new discipline plan for the Oakland schools. Members of the terrorist group kidnaped the newspaper heiress from her Berkeley apartment three months ago.

In Los Angeles, the father of one of those slain in the shootout complained to a news conference that his son and the other SLA members had been "slaughtered" by police and the FBI, and joined the American Civil Liberties Union in demanding an inquest into the deaths.

Dr. L.S. Wolfe, of Allentown, Pa., father of Willie Wolfe, 23, said the police had alternatives, such as starving out the terrorists, and he would have gone into the gang's hideout and talked his son into surrendering.

Following the conference, Wolfe went to the coroner's office to claim his son's body. He appeared stunned when he was told that at the request of the dead mans' mother — Dr. Wolfe's first wife — his son's body had been turned over to a local mortuary, where it was cremated.

The mortuary said the ashes were sent to Wolfe's mother, Virginia Wolfe, in Litchfield, Conn., where they were buried Tuesday.

Claimed the Body

Wolfe said he had talked to his former wife Monday night, and she had not told him that she had claimed the body.

Representatives of the ACLU said the families of five of the six dead SLA members had authorized the ACLU to act for them in seeking an inquest. The sole exception is the family of Nancy Ling Perry, daughter of a Santa Rosa, Calif., furniture dealer, a spokesman said.

Police and the FBI, responding to criticism of "excessive force," have pointed out that those in the house were warned by bullhorn to surrender, and that after 10 minutes elapsed, a tear gas grenade was fired through a window. The SLA then opened fire with automatic weapons and only then did police and FBI agents return the fire, authorities said.

Still sought along with Miss Hearst are SLA members William and Emily Harris.

Consider what electricity will cost tomorrow... & you'll see why you should buy the Round One TODAY!
It's no secret that inflation will make everything cost more . . . even electricity. That's why now is the right time to consider Carrier's power-saving central air conditioner, the Round One.
Once you have central air conditioning installed, it'll be around for a long time . . . say ten or more years. And if you buy the wrong central air conditioner, it could use a lot of electricity and really eat up money.
That's why it pays to see us now about Carrier's Round One . . . that cools like a dream & uses less electricity than most competitive units.
